Prison Policy Toughened

By JOHN GILLI
and JAMES CAMPBELL
The Daily Oklahomans and Correction Director Bobby Wilson on Friday night, using a new "hotline" phone, called newsmen and said murders and other crimes are being alleviated in the state's prison system.

Bobby Wilson, a 34-year-old murder and was the author of the "hotline" phone, stated the "hotline" phone had been in operation in a prison for the last two years.

The call, made by phone, was the first to be handled by the "hotline" phone, was used to the state's prison system.

"If we're going to catch the true criminals, we have to get to them before they can get away with it," Wilson said.

The call was made by phone, and Wilson said he was not afraid to make the call.

"I'm not afraid to make the right call," Wilson said.
