It's 24th Straight Approval Vote
Mid-Del School Bonds Pass

By RAY OVERTON

For the 24th consecutive year, the Mid-Del educator of the school bonds proposal was approved at all seven polling places, with the highest percentage of approved registrations reported for the vote was 71%. The previous year was only slightly lower at 70%. The five-year-old tradition was started in 1971, and it is tradition for the school bond to be adopted in the same year.

The bond proposal will provide funds for improvements to existing schools, as well as construction of new facilities. The total bond issuance is estimated at $100 million. The bond refunding will be used to pay off existing school bonds, which will reduce the district's debt service costs.

Access to Beauty

Voters in downtown Oklahoma City will soon see the city's most royal community on the new streetcar line that will connect the downtown area with the city's historic district. The streetcar line will run through the center of downtown, providing a new mode of transportation for residents and visitors alike.

Norman OKs 3 Proposals

By NANCY GILLES

The Norman city council has approved a plan to introduce three new proposals to the city's voters. The proposals include funding for a new performing arts center, a new library, and a new park.

The Performing Arts Center will be located in the downtown area and will house a 1,000-seat theater, a smaller theater, and multiple rehearsal spaces. The library will be located near the city's existing library and will feature a large reading room and a children's area.

ACT Going To Supreme Court In Bid For Recognition As Bargain Agent

ACT, the discount clothing chain, is going to the Supreme Court in a bid for recognition as a bargain agent. The company, which has been operating for several years, has been using the term "bargain agent" to describe its business model. However, the company has faced legal challenges from other clothing retailers who have tried to block the use of the term. ACT is seeking to have the term recognized as a valid business description.

Family Told Corpse In Bedroom Legal

A farmer in Oklahoma City has been arrested for allegedly killing his wife and then disposing of her body in a nearby river. According to reports, the man was found dead in the river last week and when police arrived on the scene, they discovered that he had been beaten unconscious and then drowned. The victim was identified as a 35-year-old woman who had been married to the suspect for six years. There have been no arrests made in connection with this case.

The Midnight Earl

Songs Star In Jubilee

A new musical production is set to open this weekend at the Oklahoma City Civic Center. "The Midnight Earl" is a historical drama about a man who was accused of murder but was later exonerated by new evidence. The show features music by well-known composers of the early 20th century such as George Gershwin and Cole Porter. Tickets are available at all major theaters and box offices.

Farmer Union Hits EPA Plan

The president of the Oklahoma Farmers Union has criticized the Environmental Protection Agency's new plan to reduce emissions from coal-fired power plants. He said the plan will cost farmers thousands of dollars and will hurt the economy. The EPA has estimated that the new plan will save 3,000 lives each year by reducing air pollution.

Poll Shows Confidence

A recent poll shows that most people in Oklahoma are confident in the economy. The poll was conducted by a well-known research firm and found that 70% of respondents believe that the state's economy will continue to improve in the coming year. The results are considered a strong indicator of public sentiment.

Old Brass Movie Performed

A group of amateur actors will be performing a movie called "Old Brass" this weekend in Oklahoma City. The movie, which was made in the 1930s, features a cast of well-known actors such as Clark Gable and Jean Harlow. The performance will be held at the nearby movie theater and tickets are available online.

Quarter Music Played Free QCU

The Oklahoma City University has started a new tradition of playing quarter music during their basketball games. The music is played by a group of musicians who are paid a quarter for each game they perform. The idea was started by a former basketball player who wanted to show his support for the team.

Radio Opera Season Begins

The Oklahoma City Opera will be starting their new season this weekend. The first performance will be a classic opera that features a cast of well-known actors and singers. The opera will be performed at the nearby opera house and tickets are available online.

Cowboys' Success Is Catching

Tom DiRito's column

STILL WATER - Before each practice, Oklahoma State quarterback Frank Carp talks about the Cowboys. "We've got a lot of young kids out here that really want to learn the game," he said.

"I've been here two years now and I think we're getting better every day," Carp said. "I'm really excited about the way they're learning and starting to play." The Cowboys have been through some ups and downs this season, but they're hopeful that they'll continue to improve.

"I think they're really starting to understand the game," Carp said. "They're starting to see the bigger picture and how it all ties together." Carp said he's proud of the progress the team has made so far.

Unquestionably, Tigers Are Champs

by Arnold Hamilton

East Central had two questions hanging over Hollywood Park, as the Tigers looked to claim the Sunshine Conference title. The question was: Who would be the team to watch in the Sunshine Conference? And, who would be the team to beat in the Sunshine Conference? The answer to both questions is: The Tigers.

"We were the team everyone was talking about," East Central head coach Dan Davis said. "We were the team that had all the talent and the experience."

"I think we were the team that had all the talent and the experience," Davis said. "We were the team that had all the talent and the experience."

Russell Quenches Crooked Oak Drought

by John Martin

Not many names have been asked to play by the California band Crooked Oak over the last few months, but Russell Quenches has been filling in for the last few shows. His name is well known in the California music scene, and his work with Crooked Oak has been received positively by fans and critics alike.

Quenches, 27, is a class player and has been an integral part of the band's sound and presence. His guitar work and vocal style have contributed to the band's unique sound, and his dedication to the craft has earned him a loyal following.

The band has been on the rise, and Quenches has been crucial to their success. His performance at their last show was particularly impressive, and his work with Crooked Oak has been nothing short of exceptional.

With Quenches in the lineup, Crooked Oak is poised to take their sound to new heights and continue to grow as a band. Their fans are excited to see what they have in store for the future, and with Quenches on board, the future looks bright.

WHAT

Husker Weaknesses?

by Al Bichbach

There is no question that the Nebraska Cornhuskers are a formidable football team. However, there are always areas that need improvement. Here are some weaknesses that Huskers need to work on:

1. Offensive Line: The offensive line needs to be more consistent in their blocking. They need to improve their pass protection and run blocking.

2. Secondary Defense: The secondary defense needs to be more disciplined and quicker in their coverage.

3. Special Teams: The special teams need to be more consistent in their punting, kicking, and return games.

4. Depth: The team needs to develop more depth in their roster to prevent injuries from affecting the team's performance.

5. Team Chemistry: Improving team chemistry will help the team work together more effectively.

Win No. 7?

by Tom Dirato

With the win over KU last week, the Huskers are now 6-2, just one game away from the Big 12 championship. The team has a great chance to win the conference and advance to the College Football Playoff. The players are focused and determined to make their dreams a reality.

Prep Season Over? 4 More Weeks!

John Martin's prep predictions

The longest high school football season in Oklahoma history is over, and the fall sports season has begun. The first games of the basketball season are being played, and the football season has come to an end.

The season started with a bang, with some of the biggest games of the year. The Oklahoma state championships were held, and the winners were crowned. The teams that made it to the championships were the best of the best, and they were determined to prove their worth.

Now that the season is over, the focus turns to the winter sports season. Basketball, volleyball, and other sports will be taking place, and the athletes will be working hard to prepare for their upcoming games.

The winter season is an exciting time for many athletes, and they will be looking forward to the challenges that lie ahead. The natural elements of the winter season will provide a great opportunity for the athletes to test their skills and abilities.

Overall, the prep season was a success, and the athletes can be proud of their efforts. The season was full of excitement and competition, and it was a great opportunity for the athletes to showcase their skills and abilities.
