DEATH ENDS FRANCO ERA

MADRID, Spain (AP) - Spain's Communist Party, set to win the country's first election in 41 years, vowed Thursday to work to create a society centered on workers, and with the end of the Franco dictatorship in sight, it set its agenda for the new democratic era.

The triumph of the Socialist Party under Prime Minister Felipe Gonzalez was seen as a major step forward for Spain, which has been ruled for 36 years by the late dictator General Francisco Franco.

The death of the dictator, who came to power during the Spanish Civil War, marked a turning point in Spain's history. Franco had ruled the country for four decades, from the fall of the Spanish Republic in the 1936-39 Civil War until his death in 1975.

The Socialist victory, which was confirmed in a general election last month, has raised hopes for a more open and democratic future in Spain, which has been ruled by Falange dictator General Miguel Primo de Rivera from 1923 to 1930 and by Franco from 1939 to 1975.

Spain's new government has pledged to work for a more equitable and participatory society, and to promote social justice and human rights. It has also promised to address the legacy of the dictatorship, including the thousands of political prisoners and victims of theFranco regime.

The end of the Franco era is seen as a significant milestone in Spain's history, as it marks the beginning of a new democratic era for the country. The Socialist Party has vowed to work for a more open and participatory society, and to promote social justice and human rights.

Convicts As Teachers

The State Board of Pardons and Paroles recommends that private citizens be permitted to participate in the parole process. They are not currently involved.

Convicts could perform useful work in education and re-entry services. Before parole, they could be required to earn a high school equivalency diploma. After parole, they could be mandated to participate in a re-entry program, which could include education, job training, and substance abuse treatment.

- How Should I Know?

It's time to winterize your car. As the days begin to get shorter and the temperatures drop, it's important to ensure your vehicle is prepared for the cold weather ahead. Here are some tips on how to winterize your car:

1. Check Your Battery: Make sure the battery is fully charged and in good condition. A weak battery can struggle to start your car in cold weather.
2. Inspect the Antifreeze: Ensure that the antifreeze is at the correct level and type for your vehicle. Fresh antifreeze is crucial in the winter months.
3. Check the Tires: Check tire pressure and replace any worn-out tires. Tires that are worn or have low tread can lead to loss of traction and control.
4. Blow Out the Muffler: Make sure the muffler and pipes are clear of any debris or ice buildup, which can be dangerous and affect performance.
5. Replace Wipers: Wipers need to be effective in removing ice and snow from the windshield, so check them for wear and replace if necessary.

By following these tips, you can ensure your car is ready for the winter months and avoid potential issues on the road.

Why is Tareyton better?

Charcoal is why. Charcoal filtration is used to freshen air, to make water and other beverages taste better. It does something for cigarette smokers too.

TAREYTON has two filters—a white tip on the outside, activated charcoal on the inside. Like other filters they reduce tar and nicotine. But the charcoal does more. It balances, smooths—gives you a taste no plain white filter can match.

Success Helps Designer Overcome Speech Problem

By GENEVIEVE WALLACE

New York — In a case that will do much to dispel the popular notion that success can be a problem, a world-renowned designer is doing an about-face and is planning to give up her career.

The designer, who has been a leader in the fashion world for the past 30 years, told The Journal that she has been struggling with a speech impediment for the past year. She said that she has been working with speech therapists and has made some progress, but she still has a noticeable speech impediment.

"It's been really hard," she said. "I've been trying to get used to it, but it's tough. I've been trying to focus on my work, but it's been distracting."

The designer, who has been a fixture on the New York fashion scene for decades, said that she has been considering retirement for some time. She said that she has been feeling burned out and that she wants to spend more time with her family.

"I've been working really hard for a long time," she said. "I think it's time for me to focus on my family."

Building Permit Hike Reported In October

The Engineers Advisory Board, which was reported to be working on a report that would include a recommendation to the city's Planning Department, met last week to discuss the potential impact of building permits on the city's infrastructure. The board's report is expected to be presented to the city council in the near future.

Oil Firms Assail Breakup

The National Oil Corporation has issued a statement condemning the recent breakup of its company. The firm has been operating in the region for over a decade and has been a major contributor to the local economy. The spokesman for the company said, "This is a setback for our company and for the community. We will continue to work towards our goals and will emerge stronger from this challenge."

Cleaver Faces Murder Attempt Charges

NEW YORK (AP) - Pioneer Black journalist Cleaver was arrested here Thursday on charges he attempted to murder his 3-year-old son.

Cleaver, 28, was charged with assault and battery after allegedly throwing his son against a wall during an argument.

The boy, who was uninjured, was taken to Children's Hospital in New York City. A hospital spokesperson said the boy was in stable condition.

Cleaver, who was released on $5,000 bail, is scheduled to appear in court on Friday.

$15 Million Drug Market Reported Halted

TODAY 1985 - The most recent research into the Brazilian drug market reveals that it is a major player in the global drug trade.

"This market is so large, we estimate it is worth $15 million a year," said Dr. John Smith, chief of the drug research division at the Brazilian Ministry of Health.

Smith said the drug market is driven by a combination of factors, including high demand, low regulation, and the presence of domestic producers.

Joan Little Loses Appeal

BIRMINGHAM, AL (AP) - A federal appeals court has upheld the conviction of Joan Little, a 33-year-old woman who was convicted of murder in a shooting death.

Little, who had been on death row for 10 years, had been appealing her conviction on grounds of sexual orientation.

The court ruled that Little's sexual orientation was not a factor in the case and that she should not have been sentenced to death.

Merry Christmas

from

JCPenney

Crossroads Mall
Introducing Daisy L from Love cosmetics.

A very spirited fragrance.

The Magic of Christmas is in the Air at John A. Brown's

We recently phoned the North Pole hoping Santa would grant us a personal appearance this year. But he was up to his beard with toy crafting (there's a shortage of Elves) and he said he just couldn't fly away.

But, he suggested a special guest who prefers warmer weather over the bitters of the North Pole — his dear friend, Rudolph! “We’ll take him!” we said. And so that beautiful red nose will be in both our stores beginning November 28th. Bring your children to shake his hoof, have their color pictures taken instantly, 2.00, and receive our complimentary Rudolph Coloring Book.

Now, we expect he'll be as hungry as a bear after his long journey, so we've planned a continental breakfast in his honor. Join him over a glass of milk and a roll on December 13th in Penn Square and on December 30th in Crossroads. Just jingle us up at 681-7421, ext. 316, or visit our gift certificate outpost in both stores for a reservation (1.75).

While your children are buttering up Rudolph, do all your Christmas shopping under one roof. Beginning in our Christmas Village for trees, wraps, and cards. Because we realize you may not find just the right thing to delight Aunt Martha, Uncle George, or the kids, we've planned gift certificate outlets throughout our stores. And whatever selections you find, have them bundled with our custom wrap.

And to all of you from all of us, we wish you a Christmas filled with peace and happiness.

Merry Christmas from JCPenney Crossroads Mall

With love and joy,
The JCPenney Team
