Boren Leaves Door Open In Tax Plan

By JOHN GILLES

Oklahoma City, April 12 (AP) - Gov. David Boren, faced with still legislative opposition, Friday said he'd be willing to take a tax plan already rejected by the Legislature and to go to the voters for a referendum on the issue.

"I have not said close the door to the question of an referendum," Boren said.

But observers had labeled earlier in the week with some legibility, Boren's "tax bomb" a real possibility after defeat of the revenue package.

Boren said he would then consider an referendum in an effort to get a tax pass the Legislature.

"I don't see how it's possible in this session," Boren said.

"But I think it can be done at some time in the future," he added.

Boren said he was considering two options.

"One is to go to the Legislature to get another package to pass," Boren said.

"I don't think it's possible in this session," he added.

"But I think it can be done at some time in the future," Boren said.

"The other option is to go to the voters," Boren said.

"I think it's possible," Boren said.

Boren said he would like to see both options be considered.
