Doctor Says Elvis Wouldn't Get Off Drugs

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) — Elvis Presley, whose drug addiction was said to be worse than that of any other rock star, was advised by doctors to quit smoking and drinking by Dr. William N. Recht, head of the hospital where Dr. Presley was being treated.

Dr. Recht, who has been treating the rock star for months, said Presley's addiction to drugs and alcohol was so severe that it would be better for him to quit immediately.

In a statement released by the hospital, Dr. Recht said: "Elvis is in desperate need of a complete change in his lifestyle. We urge him to stop smoking and drinking immediately."

Dr. Recht said Presley had been undergoing treatment for his drug addiction for several weeks, but was still unable to quit.

"We have advised Elvis to stop smoking and drinking, but he has been unable to do so," Dr. Recht said. "He has been advised to seek professional help, but he has not been able to follow through."
Kennedy Calls Stories ‘Shoddy’

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Kennedy said Monday that he thought that the stories the press was printing about the government’s handling of the Cuban crisis were “shoddy." He made the statement in his weekly radio-television address.

Bridging The Nutrition Gap...

Obesity Greater Problem For Women Than For Men

Obesity is a greater problem for women than for men, medical authorities agree, and the reasons may be both physical and psychological. Obesity is more common among women, they say, due to factors such as hormonal changes, diet and exercise habits, and psychological issues. Women are also more likely to experience negative health consequences from obesity, including increased risk of developing diabetes, heart disease, and some forms of cancer.

Older Man Prefers 'Own Age' To 'Bicentennial'

Dear Editor:

Two weeks ago my 80-year-old grandpa, Charles E. Jones, was looking through some old family photos and came across a picture of his younger self. He immediately exclaimed, "Look at me all those years ago! I was a handsome young man!"

I was taken aback by his reaction. I had always known my grandpa as the wise and experienced elder, but to see him as a young man was a revelation. His comments made me realize that age is just a number and that I need to focus on maintaining a positive attitude and living a healthy lifestyle.

Sincerely,

OKLAHOMA CITY - A new program under way in Oklahoma to help farmers increase their productivity is getting some attention.

Bill Urged

For Farmers

OLYMPUS

The program, called "Bill Urged For Farmers," was launched last month by the Oklahoma Farmer's Union. It aims to provide financial assistance to farmers who are experiencing difficulties due to low crop yields or other factors.

Bill Urged

For Farmers

OLYMPUS

The program is open to all farmers in Oklahoma, regardless of their income level or size of operation. Farmers interested in participating in the program can apply online or by contacting the Oklahoma Farmer's Union directly.

"We are excited to offer this program to help our farmers," said Oklahoma Farmer's Union President John D. Brown. "We recognize the challenges that many farmers face, and we want to do what we can to support them and help them succeed."
Quiet Time

The builder has been busy and quiet reigns in this section of the house. It was a holiday break for the builders and a good time for them to enjoy the peacefulness of the area. The family room was recently completed and now serves as a perfect gathering space.

Americans Still Talking Of Boycott

WASHINGTON (AP) - The heat in the discussion surrounding a possible American boycott of the Olympics in Moscow will not be broken by the decision of the Amateur Athletic Union to approve a boycott if the American Olympic Committee announces one.

The AAU, which is a member of the International Olympic Committee, has not taken a position on a boycott, but has said it will not approve any boycott that costs American athletes a chance to compete.

The American Olympic Committee has said it will not approve a boycott if the Soviet Union is allowed to participate in the Olympics.

Blackman Player Of Week

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - The University of Kansas has announced that pharmacist Joe Blackman has been named the Player of the Week.

Blackman, a 6-foot-3, 200-pound guard, averaging 12.5 points per game, led the Jayhawks to a 77-72 victory over Missouri.

Cowboy Clark Stickin' To His Guns

By Wayne Kaden

Of The News-Times

Clark, a 6-foot-2, 190-pound guard, has been a consistent scorer for the Cowboys, averaging 18.5 points per game.

Clark, who has been named the Big 8 Player of the Week three times this season, said he doesn't study statistics because he believes in playing with heart.

"I don't think it's wise to rely on statistics," Clark said. "I just want to play the game the way I see it and not worry about numbers."

Clark said he has a good feel for the game and is comfortable with his scoring ability.

"I've been at the top of my game this year," Clark said. "I just want to continue to play the game the way I see it and not worry about the numbers."

Sooner's embark on annual trek to ski slopes

By David Balle

For decades people have been trying to find the secret to the Sooner's annual trek to the ski slopes. This year, they have finally succeeded. The trek is a tradition that has been going on for over 50 years and is one of the most anticipated events of the year. The trek takes place in the early morning hours of New Year's Day and involves a group of dedicated skiers making their way up the mountain. The trek is considered to be a rite of passage for those who participate, and it is said that those who complete it are rewarded with a year of good fortune. This year, the trek was led by a group of experienced skiers who were able to navigate the challenging terrain with ease. The trek is open to all, and those who are interested are encouraged to join in on the fun. Whether you're a seasoned skier or just starting out, the trek is sure to be a memorable experience. So, grab your skis and head to the slopes for an unforgettable adventure!
