OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) - Veteran Oklahoma Congressman W. David Rice met his end in an automobile accident near here with emotion. Saturday afternoon he will not seek re-election to the House of Representatives.

"I intend to spend my declining years in my home state," Rice said.

"I have served in the House for more years than I care to remember. I have always worked hard to represent my constituents with integrity and honesty."

Rice had already announced his intention not to seek re-election last year.

Retirement: He indicated he was seeking re-election.

Feeling A Little Queer?

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The folks at the Harvey Milk Bistro, a gay cafe and bookstore where Milk ran a campaign office, were so happy about the result they continued to serve customers into the early hours of today.

The victory was a blow to the conservative wing of the Democratic Party and a boost to gay rights activists everywhere.

Robert's Security Blanket

NEW YORK (AP) - Robert Redford, who is making his way to the podium to pick up his award for Best Actor, is not sure if he's ready to make a speech. The actor, who is known for his work in movies such as 'The Way We Were' and 'All Is Lost,' has been preparing for the event for weeks.

He's Downs But Not Out

NEW YORK (AP) - Hugh Downs is a well-known voice in the media, but he's getting down to business. The actor, who is known for his roles in 'Kate and Allie' and 'One Day at a Time,' is set to host a new talk show that will air on a major cable network.

The Best Is Back

During the last few months on TV, the CBS show 'The Best is Back' has been a hit. The show, which is based on the true story of a woman who fought for women's rights, has been praised for its strong performances and compelling storytelling.

A look at “The Chisholms”

By Grace C. Biggers

You have to be old enough if you are to react properly to the suggestion that politicians are on their way back in television. Mention that to a 30-woman, and you will probably get little more than a shrug or perhaps even a condescending comment about the basic sex appeal of cowboys. They don’t know any better than that. But just try and make that comment to women over 40. Suggest to those who watched TV in the last 50s and early 60s (or heard the horrid banjo and piano of cowboys that westerns are coming back in force, and you will see some cold-chill shuddering like none you have ever seen before.

No wonder, then, January was a bad month for me. Good people—that is, knowledgeable people from whom I have respect concerning their thoughts on the ways of life and politics—pointed to this nation’s overseas situation and how it was leading us toward the determination that nobody steps on America, an attitude which had not been felt strongly in this nation since the cold war days of the 50s. Now, my friends, pointed to the desire to “carry a big stick” would return to us those earlier days of television when the man with the fastest gun was always the ratings winner.

What a horrible thought! Here we are, just recently having escaped from a deluge of private-eye programming, and we are told that an avalanche of gun gore may be on its way. Consider what a home movie was, and what a hit it was. I have a feeling that it will be just as much of a hit to the modern viewer, as it was to the 50s. The thing is, the 50s didn’t have a lot of TV shows that dealt with politics, and even if they did, they were not as entertaining as the shows of today.

The cast is strong. Robert Preston, Rosemary Harris, Ben Murphy and Mitchell Ryan provide both top names and top acting skills. Preston and Harris are, of course, true stars, and Murphy has been a motion picture star since 1939 and has twice won Broadway’s Tony Award (for “Music Man” and “I Do! I Do!”). Harris has starred in dozens of major stage and TV dramas, won a Tony Award for “The Lion in Winter” (starring, oddly enough, opposite Robert Preston) and an Emmy Award for “Notorious Woman.”

All the right elements are there. How is the series faring? Are massive numbers of Americans, caught up in the fever of rearming our nation, also caught up in watching cowboys kill each other? Are they tuning in “The Chisholms” now?

The answer is No. Ratings for “The Chisholms” are very bad, and indications are that the series will barely limp through a single season. I hate to take joy from anyone’s failure, especially when talent like Robert Preston and Rosemary Harris are involved, but it is nice to see this one of the single lead shows which might have caused an avalanche, is not to hear it drop quietly yet firmly into the bucket of oblivion.

"Trapper John, M.D."

When his old friends, Dr. Brian Hanley, begins to behave erratically, Trapper attributes it merely to Hanley's strong competitive nature—but Gonzo is concerned, especially after Hanley mysteriously disappears during a life-saving emergency. On "Trapper John, M.D." Sunday, Feb. 17 (9:00-10:00 p.m.) on the CBS Television Network. Ed Winter guest stars as Hanley in the episode, which was written by Deborah Zoe Sadow and Virginia Joranas and directed by Murray Golden.

"Barnaby Jones"

A young stand-up comic audition for the big time but winds up being spotlighted for murder, on "Barnaby Jones," Thursday, Feb. 21 (8:00-9:00 p.m.) on the CBS Television Network. Richard Lowry directed the teleplay written by Paul Robert Coytles.

Lindy Powell, an old Chicago friend of J.R. Jones, is given a chance to try out his comedy material on a sophisticated Hollywood audience and bobs and a "b" in the attempt. As a result, club owner Ross Chapman cancels the engagement. Powell is furious, and when Chapman is murdered the comic becomes the prime suspect. J.R. undertakes an investigation to help his friend.

Fantasy Fan

Q: I love Ricardo Montalban on "Fantasy Island" and dream about him all the time. Can you tell me what was the first acting job he had and how he got it? M.T., El Dorado, Ark.

A: Ricardo Montalban's first role was in a summer-stock production with Tallulah Bankhead titled "Her Cardboard Lover." Ricardo says he was the part when he made a deep impression on Ms. Bankhead during an interview with her. "Tallulah's pet lion gnawed on my shoe through that entire discussion," laughs the actor. "As it turned out, she decided that if I could remain composed under those kinds of circumstances, there would be no possibility that I could forget my lines on stage."

Blonde Billie

Q: I watched "Petticoat Junction" from the very first episode and my favorite was the beautiful blonde who played Billie Jo. What was her name and what event of her? A.L., Cherry Hill, N.J.

A: Three different actresses played the role of Billie Jo during the run of this series. The one you are referring to, the first one, was a young lady named Jeannie Riley. A member of the "Petticoat" cast from its 1953 premiere until she left two years later, Jeannie subsequently appeared in several movie comedies, such as "The Comic" with Dick Van Dyke. Later, she became a regular on the popular country-western variety show "Hoe-Hoe."

Sports Calendar

Right now, ABC's biggest sports offering is the Winter Olympics. This Sunday alone (Feb. 17), the network will have almost 6 hours of programming devoted to the sport and ice brigade at Lake Placid. But that is not the only physical contest ABC will have going that day.

When the afternoon coverage of the Olympics fades like manmade snow under a hot sun, ABC will present the first of two episodes comprising The Men's Finals in "The Superstars" series. Once thought of as much more a show business competition than one which deserves to be labeled a "sport," this series has proven surprisingly competitive and surprisingly entertaining even for the most demanding judges of athletic contests.

One reason may be its creator, the man who put this show and who has insisted on making it better and better every year. Do you know who he is? "Superstars" creator its existence to Dick Button, the first man to win an Olympic Gold Medal in figure skating.

UNUSUAL MAN

As a broadcaster, Joe Garagiola's coverage of a baseball game often has such a comedic flavor that viewers fail to take him seriously. They forget that as a catcher he was very instrumental in producing the Cardinal's World Series win of 1946. They forget that as a broadcaster he won the prestigious Peabody Award for "The Baseball World of Joe Garagiola."

But that doesn't bother Joe. "I like fans to find comedy in what I say," he says. "It helps for good relationship."

Apparently NBC agrees. They have signed Garagiola to a new multi-year contract—more games and more money.
Maybe viewers do not always take him seriously, but how can many other sportscasters have a golf tournament named after them?

Tune in late Sunday afternoon to watch the last leg of "The Joe Garagiola Tucson Open" on NBC.

"An Eclipse of Reason"

Richard Widmark, Ned Beatty, Osie Davis, Ruby Dee and Trish Van Devere have been signed to star in the television motion picture. "An Eclipse of Reason," a polarizing drama about the impact of forced school busing on a small American city, to air on the ABC Television Network during the 1980-81 broadcast season, it was announced by Leonard Hill, Vice President, Motion Pictures for Television, ABC Entertainment.

The film will be a Bill-Forrest Production for Viacom, with Jerry Thorpe directing from the screenplay by William Blien, the creative team responsible for last season's "A Question of Love."

"Television is at its best when it helps people understand the world they live in," Mr. Hill stated in making the announcement, "As Bill Blien was able to do with both 'Brian's Song' and 'A Question of Love', in his screenplay for 'An Eclipse of Reason,' Bill again deals with an emotion-charged subject and treats it with typical insight and sensi-vitility."

In the film, Judge Denison (Widmark) considers his appointment to hear the arguments for and against community busing the climax to his long career, and years with his to assure his own objectivity.
Meanwhile, the desires and aspirations of two sets of parents—caucasian Mike Napier (Beatty) and his ex-wife, Winnie, and black Blair and Irene Whitfield (Davis and Dee)—strain their friendship to the limit, and push their two sons into a rendezvous with tragedy.
Mexico prison escape dramatized

Timothy Bottoms stars as a young man determined to escape from a Mexican prison and Emmy Award-winner Kay Lenz stars as the young woman who helps him, in the true-life drama, "Escape," to be presented on "The CBS Wednesday Night Movies," Wednesday, Feb. 20 (9:30-10:00 p.m.) on the CBS Television Network.

"Tony Award-winner Colleen Dewhurst also stars in the new motion picture-for-television as Lily Levinson, an American woman living in Mexico City who provides the pair with invaluable advice and help.

Bottoms stars as Dwight Worker, a young American jailed in the notorious Lecumberri Prison in Mexico City on a drug charge. For the privilege of a small private cell, prison authorities and prisoners extort hundreds of dollars a month from Dwight's parents. Each small favor costs a little more. Finally, Dwight can no longer abide the brutal, corrupt world that Lecumberri represents. He must get out.

When he meets Barbara Chilcote, his life suddenly changes. The two immediately fall in love and Barbara commits herself to helping Dwight escape. They devise a deceptively simple plan—Dwight will simply walk out of Lecumberri dressed as a woman, hiding himself in the midst of the constant stream of visitors always coming and going. As simple as the plan sounds, the danger is immense. Dwight will be summarily shot if caught and Barbara can be apprehended at any time as she smuggles various clothes and items into prison for Dwight's transformation.

Lecumberri, operative since the 1930's, had been the scene of only one escape before: Pancho Villa escaped in 1913. Can Dwight Worker escape in 1978?

"Escape" was based on the book written by Dwight and Barbara Worker; the screenplay was written by Michael Zagar. It was directed by Robert M. Lewis and produced by Michael Jaffe, Henry Jaffe and Bill Beaudine Jr., executive producers for Jaffe Productions.

Kay Lenz won an Emmy Award in 1975 for her role in the daytime drama special, "Heart in Hiding." She was nominated for a second Emmy for her part in the popular mini-series, "Rich Man, Poor Man." She starred in the Network motion picture-for-television, "The Seeding of Sarah Burns," and her other television credits include the "Initiation of Sarah" and "The FBI vs. Alvin Karpas." Her film credits include the title role of "Breezy," opposite William Holden, "White Line Fever" and "The Great Scout and Cathouse Thursday."

With Two Oscars and a String of Starring Roles, Jack Lemmon Is a Hard Act for Son Chris to Follow

Yes, there are benefits to having a famous father, but it doesn’t always open doors. Chris Lemmon has learned that he has to make his own breaks.

By Isabel Stolten

Jack Lemmon is that sort of the happiest man in Hollywood. And everything indicates that he should be, All the way from his production company, his starring role in the new Woody Allen picture, and a recent multi-picture deal with United Artists. But there’s one problem: Jack’s son, Chris, is a movie star, too.

"Yes, the last couple of years couldn’t have been better," Jack says in his office in Los Angeles. "Now I have to work even harder. I have to do two pictures a year to make up for his three." And his son has already made four films under his own production company.

Mac Davis "Believes in Music," And After Some Tough Times, He Believes in Himself, Too

They used to call him the King of Bad Songs. But after more success in Nashville, Davis is a] great hit album and, just one week after, Mac Davis is singing in happier tune.

By Bruce Pollock

In the early days of his career, Mac Davis was a songwriter and artist. His songs were hit records, but he was not a successful singer. He was known as a "bad" songwriter, and his songs were often criticized. But Davis was determined to make it as a singer, and he worked hard to improve his skills. He recorded his first album, "Mac Davis," in 1968, and it was a hit. Since then, he has released several more albums and has had many hit songs.

Now, Davis is back with a new album, "Believe," and it is a huge success. The album includes the song "If I Can Dream," which is a hit in its own right. Davis has also released a video for the song, and it has been widely played on music channels.

Davis has said that he is grateful for his success, but he is also realistic about the music business. He knows that it is a tough industry, and he is determined to keep on working hard to succeed.

"Believe" is available now at your favorite music store.

FAMILY WEEKLY COOKBOOK

Plan a Menu from the 1980 Winter Olympics

CHICKEN NOODLE SOUP

- 4 cups chicken
- 1 cup uncooked noodles
- 1 cup celery
- 1 cup carrots
- 1 cup potatoes
- 1 cup onion
- 4 cups chicken broth
- 2 tbsp butter
- 2 tbsp flour
- 2 tsp salt
- 1/2 tsp pepper
- 2 tbsp chopped parsley

1. Cut chicken into pieces. Cook chicken in a large pot with 4 cups of water. Add 2 tbsp of butter and 2 tbsp of flour to make a roux. Add 2 cups of chicken broth, 1 cup of noodles, and 1/2 cup of celery. Cook for 20 minutes.

SPICY STUFFED CHICKEN

- 4 chicken breasts
- 1 onion, chopped
- 1 green pepper, chopped
- 1 red pepper, chopped
- 1 cup chopped mushrooms
- 1/2 cup chopped onions
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1/2 tsp black pepper
- 1/2 tsp salt
- 1/2 tsp dried thyme

1. Preheat oven to 375°F. Mix chicken breasts, onion, green pepper, red pepper, mushrooms, and onions in a bowl. Add black pepper, salt, and thyme. Stuff chicken breasts with mixture. Bake for 30 minutes.

TUNA SALAD MOUSSE

- 1 can (8 oz) tuna
- 1/2 cup mayonnaise
- 1/4 cup sour cream
- 1/4 cup chopped celery
- 1/4 cup chopped onion
- 2 tbsp chopped chives
- 1/4 tsp salt
- 1/4 tsp black pepper

1. Drain tuna and add to a mixing bowl. Add mayonnaise, sour cream, celery, onion, chives, salt, and black pepper. Mix well. Spoon into a serving dish and refrigerate for 1 hour.

MUSHROOM QUICHE

- 1 9-inch pie crust
- 1/2 cup sliced mushrooms
- 1/2 cup chopped onions
- 1/4 cup chopped parsley
- 1/4 cup chopped chives
- 2 cups shredded cheese
- 1 cup heavy cream
- 4 eggs
- 1/2 tsp salt
- 1/4 tsp black pepper

1. Preheat oven to 350°F. Line pie crust with foil and fill with pie weights. Bake for 10 minutes. Remove foil and weights. Reduce oven temperature to 325°F. In a bowl, mix mushrooms, onions, parsley, chives, cheese, cream, eggs, salt, and black pepper. Pour into pie crust. Bake for 40 minutes.

An Almond Chicken Casserole

1 1/2 cups cooked rice milk
1 tablespoon almond flour
2 tablespoons almond meal
1 cup sliced almonds
1 1/2 cups cooked chicken
1 1/2 cups shredded cheese
1 cup cream
1 1/2 cups sour cream
1/2 cup chopped onion
1/2 cup chopped celery
1/2 cup chopped green pepper
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon pepper
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1/2 teaspoon basil
1/4 teaspoon oregano
2 tablespoons butter
1/4 cup chopped parsley
Cook rice and chicken. Mix and pour into a greased 2-quart casserole dish. Combine the remaining ingredients and pour over the chicken mixture. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Serve. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Mary Lous, a 34-year-old housewife, had been feeling a little bit of pain in her back for a few months. She noticed that the pain was getting worse and that she was unable to get out of bed easily. She saw a doctor, but he could not find anything wrong. She continued to feel worse and eventually was unable to work. She was referred to a rheumatologist, who diagnosed her with fibromyalgia.

Fibromyalgia is a condition that causes pain in the muscles, bones, and joints. It is often mistaken for arthritis, but it is not a physical condition. Fibromyalgia is a chronic illness that is not well understood and there is no cure. It is often associated with other conditions such as depression, anxiety, and fatigue.

The symptoms of fibromyalgia include muscle pain, fatigue, sleep problems, and mood swings. The pain is often described as aching, burning, or electric shock-like. It can be located anywhere in the body, including the back, neck, shoulders, and legs.

Fibromyalgia is a challenge to diagnose and treat. There is no one test for fibromyalgia, and the symptoms can vary from person to person. The treatment for fibromyalgia is often a combination of medication, physical therapy, and lifestyle changes.

Mary Lous was prescribed medication and therapy, but she continued to feel worse. She eventually had to give up her job and was unable to function normally. She was referred to a neurologist, who diagnosed her with a type of epilepsy.

Epilepsy is a condition that causes seizures. Seizures are electrical disruptions in the brain that cause the brain to send abnormal electrical signals to the body. Seizures can be mild or severe and can cause a person to lose consciousness.

Mary Lous was prescribed medication to control her seizures, but she continued to have episodes. She eventually had to give up her job and was unable to function normally. She was referred to a psychiatrist, who diagnosed her with anxiety disorder.

Anxiety disorder is a condition that causes persistent feelings of anxiety. Anxiety can be mild or severe and can cause a person to feel worried, nervous, or scared. Anxiety can also cause physical symptoms such as heart palpitations, shortness of breath, and stomach upset.

Mary Lous was prescribed medication to control her anxiety, but she continued to feel worse. She eventually had to give up her job and was unable to function normally. She was referred to a psychologist, who diagnosed her with depression.

Depression is a condition that causes persistent feelings of sadness, hopelessness, and loss. Depression can be mild or severe and can cause a person to feel sad, hopeless, or helpless. Depression can also cause physical symptoms such as fatigue, weight loss, and difficulty sleeping.

Mary Lous was prescribed medication to control her depression, but she continued to feel worse. She eventually had to give up her job and was unable to function normally. She was referred to a therapist, who helped her develop coping strategies.

Coping strategies are techniques that help a person to manage and cope with stress. Coping strategies can include relaxation techniques, exercise, and mindfulness.

Mary Lous was able to make significant progress with her coping strategies. She was eventually able to return to work and function normally. She was referred to a support group, which helped her to connect with others who were going through similar experiences.

Support groups are groups of people who share a common experience and who meet to support and encourage each other. Support groups can be helpful for people who are going through difficult times. Support groups can provide a sense of community and can help people to feel less alone.

How to Handle Job Stress:

Your job can be a source of stress. One common way to deal with this stress is to try to take control of the situation. Start by identifying what aspects of your job are causing you stress and then try to address those issues. For example, if you feel overwhelmed by the workload, talk to your boss about ways to reduce your responsibilities. If you're feeling anxious about a deadline, work on breaking it down into smaller, more manageable tasks. It's also important to take breaks and give yourself some time to recharge. This could be as simple as taking a short walk or listening to music. Remember, it's okay to ask for help when you're feeling overwhelmed. Your boss, colleagues, or even a mentor can be a valuable resource. And don't forget to take care of yourself. Exercise, eat well, and get enough sleep. Taking care of your physical health can go a long way in helping you manage stress at work.

Predicting Your Boss' Reactions:

When dealing with a difficult boss, it's important to be prepared. One way to predict your boss' reactions is to observe their behavior. Pay attention to how they respond to different situations and people. Are they quick to anger or do they stay calm? Do they appreciate feedback or do they ignore it? By observing their behavior, you can better understand how they might react to a particular situation or decision. It's also helpful to have a clear understanding of their expectations. What do they expect from you? Are there any specific tasks or areas of responsibility that you should focus on? Being aware of these expectations can help you avoid misunderstandings and conflicts.

Doomsday Powder for Roaches Could Endanger Species.

The powder, which is made in California, is said to be effective against roaches, ants, and other insects. However, there are concerns that it could harm other species, such as bees and butterflies. The California Department of Pesticide Regulation is investigating the matter.

Grass seed that is designed to attract birds is becoming increasingly popular. Zoysia is a type of grass that is particularly good at attracting birds. It has a fine texture and is a good choice for small gardens and patios.
This Brand-New Magic Weaves Its Spell

By Jill Poznitz

I now think IBM stands only for a certain multinational corporation, you're out of touch with magic — and the International Brotherhood of Magicians. They're a group of 1,000 magicians who gather each year for a Magic Jubilee, a chance to display their talent and most fabulous tricks.

At the latest Jubilee — held in upstate New York — magicians came from all over the world to see the best in their chosen profession.

Perhaps the most spectacular display was a local beauty queen juggling on a tightrope and having her hairdresser appendix performed on camera by magician Tony Spina. As the table was turned, the audience gasped — the operation was complete inside of her middle.

How do magic tricks work like this? "The object of magic," says Spina, a 34-year-old magician, "is not to fool people. They think that. What you must do is lead them down one path while you go down another. People know it's a trick, but magic is the ability to be so entertaining, they don't know what's being done.

To illustrate this point, Spina holds a multicolored scarf on the cover of Lerner's magic store in New York City. The scarf looks like just a plain and simple piece of fabric, but then Spina begins to roll the scarf into a "window" and in the end — and suddenly, something brand new appears. Where did it come from?

This is one secret Spina is willing to reveal. The source comes from a red with a small hoop wound into the scarf's narrow hem. If you look hard on the hoop — virtually stationary so no one notices you are rolling it — and use the other hand to fold the scarf into a "window" and in the end, you can do it.

Teenager with a lot of fun being today. I observe the art of magic is really really different. "The child is in relation to all of us. I have this sense of wonder and excitement to the mind of an audience." The first known magic trick was performed on the tomb of Egyptian pharaohs in 330 B.C. Triumph for Tar Watchers!

Triumph shakes the "low tars" with taste, and a lot less tar.

Don't let them fool you anymore. Today's low tar with taste is not as low as 8 mg tar (like Merit) or with (like Vantage) or 12 mg tar (like Marlboro Lights). And it definitely not a Carlton (which doesn't even claim to have tar).

It's a 3 mg tar Triumph! All the words in the world won't tell you how good the taste is. You'll simply have to try it. Taste it. Then ask yourself isn't it time you changed from yesterday's "low tar" to Triumph — today's low tar tar?

Triumph for taste! Only 3 mg tar.

Of all Brands Sold lowest tar 0.5 mg "at." 0.55 mg nicotine as per cigarette. Triumph 3 mg "at." 0.4 mg nicotine as per cigarette FTC Method.
Belair fresh!
