Sooner Democrats Caucus Today

By Harry Carter
UPI Capitol Report

Oklahoma City (UPI) — Oklahoma City (UPI) — A youth-in-the-city is a new thing. The state Senator Ben Carter and Sen. Edward Kennedy Monday played up the strength of their opponents and emphasized the need for a Democratic primary in Tuesday’s Democratic primary election.

Carter, who is running for Senate, has predicted the percentage of the vote in the caucus, starting at 7:00 p.m. that they can claim a victory. They would like you to believe that they wouldn’t get anything. Both sides agree Kennedy’s victory will be far short of majority. Both sides admit they will be far short of the two largest cities — Oklahoma City and Tulsa.

Meetings will start at 7:30 p.m. in Oklahoma City. Tulsa will also meet Tuesday morning at 12:00 noon. Caucus delegates will be chosen in the March 21 caucus conventions, which will select delegates for the April 15 primary and May 4 primary.

District conventions will start 6 and the state convention 12 of the delegates Oklahoma will send to the Democratic National Convention in New York City this summer.

Early Hostage Release Vetoes

By Adrian Van Haaren
UPI Staff Writer

Azerbaijan Khabibullah Khamidullin Tuesday released any attempt to renew the hostage crisis. The special U.S. investigating commission immediately packed its bags to leave Iran with its mission accomplished.

Khamidullin, whose mission was to prevent any potential hostage-taking, failed to persuade the U.S. to end the hostage crisis. The collapse of the hostage mission is currently under investigation.

The collapse of the hostage mission is currently under investigation. A special U.S. investigating commission immediately packed its bags to leave Iran with its mission accomplished.

In Washington, the White House said the hostage mission had been suspended as "very serious." The statement blamed the failure of the hostage mission on Iran's revolutionary government. However, the hostage release was described as a "positive" step.

The hostage release was described as a "positive" step.

If any positive outcome is to be expected from this hostage crisis, it now appears to be the American hostage-related crisis is over.

Byetta, another drug to treat diabetes, has been approved for use in the United States. The drug, which works by reducing the amount of blood sugar produced by the liver, has been shown to be effective in controlling blood sugar levels in people with type 2 diabetes. It is believed that Byetta could help to reduce the number of hospitalizations and emergency room visits for people with diabetes.

Women Confess Police Release Her

An Oklahoma City woman has been arrested and then released by the police after a tense standoff with officers. Witnesses described the situation as chaotic, with reports of shots being fired and people running for cover. The woman was later identified as the wife of a local businessman who had gone missing earlier in the day.
