Unheralded Again—But Purdue Is Potent

By Nick Vardaro

Purdue coaches, players and fans were jubilant on Friday night as the Boilermakers rolled to a 76-57 win over Illinois in the NCAA Midwest Regional finals. The victory sent Purdue to the Final Four for the first time since 1963, when the team won the national championship.

Purdue fans poured onto the court at Assembly Hall to celebrate their victory, but the team had to overcome a 15-point deficit in the first half to pull ahead in the second. Purdue's defense held Illinois to just 18 points in the second half, including a scoreless streak of 13 minutes, 22 seconds.

The Boilermakers were led by senior guard Ethan Happ, who scored a game-high 27 points and grabbed 11 rebounds. Freshman forward Matt Painter added 16 points and 10 rebounds, while senior center Alex Caruso scored 11 points and grabbed nine rebounds.

The win was a historic one for Purdue, who had previously made it to the Sweet 16 but had never advanced further in the NCAA tournament. The Boilermakers will face the winner of the Midwest Regional semifinal between Texas A&M and Virginia Commonwealth University in the Final Four.
