Payzant Warns Of Pupil Loss

OKLAHOMA CITY — Tim Payzant, Oklahoma City Public Schools Superintendent, is warning that planned school rezoning could result in another round of “white” and “black” flight to suburban school districts.

“I hope for not making some mistake which triggers changes that could be very high. Payzant said.

The superintendent said a decision to close Brown Elementary School in northeast Oklahoma City would be a “game changer” for the school district.

“I’m very concerned about this rezoning,” Payzant said.

Payzant said he was not committed to a specific rezoning plan, but he said he was concerned about the impact of rezoning on student enrollment.

Failure to make the rezoning decision could result in continued student enrollment losses, Payzant said, which would be a “game changer” for the school district.

There is no question in my mind that it is the best interest of all to do our best to maintain a healthy student body in the urban core. Payzant said.

Payzant also said the reductions in student enrollment could be solved by raising the tax rate, which he said would be a “game changer” for the school district.

Black Fox Bond Approval Denied

By Kay McCarthy

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — The Oklahoma City Public Schools board has approved a $30 million bond issue, but the city council has rejected the proposal.

The bond issue would pay for the construction of a new stadium, which the council has said is needed.

The city council has said it is not willing to approve the bond issue until it is convinced that the school district is committed to improving the quality of education in the city.

OKLAHOMA CITY — James B. White, Oklahoma City Urban Renewal Authority, has tendered his resignation from the agency.

White, who has served as the agency’s director since 1980, said he plans to continue his work as an attorney.

Securities and Exchange Commission Following Rezoning

By Larry Davis

OKLAHOMA CITY — The Securities and Exchange Commission has filed a lawsuit against the Oklahoma City Urban Renewal Authority, alleging that the agency violated federal securities laws.

The lawsuit was filed in federal court in Oklahoma City.

The SEC said the agency violated federal laws by failing to disclose information about the rezoning.

City leaders have said the rezoning is needed to improve the economy.

While White called the lawsuit “a game changer” for the agency, he said he is not concerned about his future.

White also called the lawsuit “a game changer” for the agency, but he said he is not concerned about his future.

Payzant’s statement on the rezoning is not surprising, White said.

2 Strike Could Hit Railroads

WASHINGTON - Union officials and company executives said today that a strike by thousands of employees could start as early as tomorrow. The union has given notice that it will walk out if the company doesn’t agree to their demands. The strike would be the first major test of the new government’s labor policies. The government has been criticized for not doing enough to mediate labor disputes.

Cost Containment Conference Slated

MADISON, Wisc. - A cost containment conference is being held today in Madison to discuss ways to reduce costs in the state. The conference is being attended by officials from various state agencies and is expected to last for three days. The conference is being held in response to rising costs in the state and the need to find ways to cut costs without compromising services.

Detective Claims Man Killed Wife

CHICAGO - A detective has claimed that a man killed his wife in a fit of rage. The man, a 35-year-old software developer, is said to have been under a lot of stress at work and at home. According to the detective, the man had a history of violence and had been under surveillance by the police.

600 Russians Killed?

NEW YORK - Reports have emerged that up to 600 Russians were killed in a mass execution by the KGB. The reports have been difficult to verify, but sources close to the situation say that the KGB has been involved in a number of mass executions in recent years. The reports have caused a stir in the international community and have prompted calls for action.

Oil Companies Shrug Off Bad Publicity

WASHINGTON — The amount of junking by public utility companies, and the national accord that the companies are able to make, has been regarded as the most important development in the area of energy policy in recent years. The companies have been able to make more junk than any other companies in the country, and the only significant development in the area of energy policy that has been made in the last year has been the national accord that the companies have been able to make.

WASHINGTON (UPI) - The State Department said yesterday that the United States would not comply with a Russian demand that the U.S. Olympic Committee withdraw from the Olympic Games scheduled for Moscow this summer.

A State Department spokesman said that the United States would not withdraw from the games as long as the athletes of the United States were allowed to participate.

The spokesman said that the United States was prepared to negotiate with the Russian government on a number of issues, including the suspension of the Russian team from the games.

The spokesman said that the United States would not consider the Moscow Olympics as a success if the Russian team were allowed to participate.

The spokesman said that the United States would continue to support the Moscow Olympics as long as the athletes of the United States were allowed to participate.

South Korea Changes

Beggars No More
An intense pride in the extraordinary removal of poverty that has made over the past twenty years is one of the strong factors working for Korea's future. The average growth rate of real per capita income has been at least 10 percent. Some military barracks, such as a U.S. Air Force transport aircraft, are now being converted to housing. Unemployment levels are at record lows.

Underground
The scene of military confrontation in North Korea may appear to be a hopeless cold war scenario, but in South Korea, the spirit of achievement is very strong and is evident everywhere. Three underground tunnels were built in the early stages of a U.S.-led mining project, tunnels which can lower the 550 million tons of coal needed.

Numbers
Numbers signify met in Korea, gold and silver, plus the county's 48,000,000 people. In the 1.2 million population, the number of Christians in the country is Confusion, but Christians are up to 1 million Protestants and one million Catholics. It is well established that they are not thought of as a minority. (UPI/Telphoto)

A Reminder
Old military barracks, such as a U.S. Air Force transport aircraft, are now being converted to housing. Unemployment levels are at record lows.

U.S. Remains
Nearly 30,000 American cemeteries remain in Korea, despite President Carter's efforts to remove American troops from the area.
Democrats Are Trying To Halt Fund-Raising

Tension In Korea Is High

WASHINGTON, D.C. - Democratic officials today threatened to halt fund-raising for the Democratic National Committee.

"We are extremely concerned about the situation in Korea," said Senate Majority Leader George McPherson of South Dakota.

"If the North Koreans do not cease their provocations, we will not continue to raise funds," McPherson said in a press conference.

The Democratic National Committee had already raised $2.1 million in its fund-raising drive, but officials said they would halt the drive if the North Koreans continued their provocations.

"We are not going to fund a war," said McPherson. "We are going to fund a peace."

Humble Pie returns with same spark

“ON TO VICTORY”

HUMBLE PIE

When a once-great rock and roll band reemerges after a five-year hiatus, prospects for the rubbering of the old spark are dim, perhaps especially when only two original members are in the new lineup.

The rejuvenation of Humble Pie is an exception. The band has a history going back to Preston and Steve Marriott, who joined in 1964. Marriott died in 1991, leaving Steve to continue the line-up with Mark Farner, who had been with the group for a decade.

Jones for two interesting but unexpurgated LPs of rock's PAR Turbo

Now, five years after the demise of the first Humble Pie, Marriott and Farner recorded the new album, "The Right Side of the Moon:" it's a return to their roots, with new material that harks back to their earlier work.

For a nationwide tour, the group is scheduled to appear at several venues, including the Apollo Theater in New York City. The album was released in 1971, the same year as the original Humble Pie lineup.

"You Satisfied" is a relentlessly driving, mid-tempo stomper with dual electric guitars following a rousing maracas-driven rhythm track. An updated take on the song, it features the band's trademark sound led by Steve Marriott on vocals and lead guitar.

"The Pie" was formed by Marriott and Farner in 1969, and recorded its first album, "S.F. No. 1," in 1970. Marriott left to form Small Faces (renamed Faces in 1970) and Farner continued with Humble Pie.

A week later, Marriott returned to his previous band for a show at the London Palladium, along with their new lead vocalist and guitarist, Ray Sawyer. The result was their first album, "Humble Pie," which went on to become a classic of the rock era. The band's second album, "PIE Face," was released in 1971 and featured "You Satisfied," "Black Betty," and "Supernova."

Street performers will highlight this festival:

By Daniel Davis

This annual festival of the Arts will again offer new and different attractions along with its traditional booths, foods and entertainments. Street performers have been invited for their unique talents and the festival committee feels that their participation will further enhance the festival experience for all.

La Jole, a young woman who mines, juggles and entertains on street corners was promised to return this year. Currently, she is touring Europe as Jane Fonda. However, her performance this year will be more local as she is scheduled to appear at the festival on Saturday, April 16th.

Viva Arts, an acrobatic group from the United States, will perform a variety of acrobatic acts, including high wire balancing, juggling, and acrobatic routines.

Finally, local performers and street entertainers will be invited to participate in the festival providing they agree, as the above entertainers, not to "pass the hat." Childrens this year will be delighted with another new feature of the festival. A creature known as the "Fantascope," part dragon, dragon and imagination will lurk in the depths of the "Horizon Plaza" Mist of the land enchantments. Parents will be encouraged to bring their children dressed in colorful costumes to be part of the fun.

Over 200 Artists Due For Festival

By Gene Triplet

Entertainment Writer

The Festival of the Arts is a 4-year-old spring tradition in Oklahoma City. This year, it will feature over 200 artists from across the country, showcasing their creative talent. Artists will be available at the festival from April 16th to 18th.

Performances in music, dance, painting and other art forms will be offered continuously from two stages in the festival area. The performances will be held during the hours of 10 a.m. to 9 p.m.

The festival, now a well-attended event, will feature over 200 people including local artists and performers.
