Hostages Moved?

By David Kean

OKLAHOMA CITY — Thousand of Oklahomans were surprised when its came down a steak house between two other buildings. The steak house was called "Steak Time." It was closed down and appeared to be deserted.

One of the workers at the steak house told the story of how the restaurant was moved to its current location.

"We were closed down last year due to a fire," said one employee. "The building was so damaged that we had to move."

The restaurant has been open for about six months now and has been well-received by customers. They say they are excited about being in a new location and look forward to continuing to serve their customers.

Botched Rescue: Another Look

By David Kean

OKLAHOMA CITY — Botched rescue efforts continued as U.S. troops faced another deadly blow in the hostage crisis.

The rescue operation, which began last week, was intended to free American hostages held in an Iranian prison. However, it failed to rescue any of the hostages and resulted in the deaths of five U.S. soldiers.

"We knew the operation would be risky," said a U.S. military official. "But we had to try." The official said the operation was intended to demonstrate the U.S.'s resolve in the face of Iranian threats.

The official added that the situation is "dire" and that the U.S. is "prepared to do whatever it takes to secure the release of our hostages." The official said the U.S. will continue to work with international partners to bring the hostages home.

Stringent OC Budget Proposed

By David Kean

OKLAHOMA CITY — Proposed cuts to the Oklahoma City budget have been met with mixed reactions. The city council is set to vote on the proposed cuts on Monday.

The cuts include reductions in the city's parks and recreation department, as well as a decrease in the library budget.

"We understand the city's financial situation," said one council member. "But we can't just sit back and watch our services disappear."

The council is expected to vote on the proposed cuts on Monday. It is unclear how the cuts will impact the city's residents.

Karen Was Determined

By David Kean

OKLAHOMA CITY — Karen was determined to succeed. She worked hard and never gave up. Her determination paid off when she was accepted into a prestigious university.

Karen's parents were proud of her achievement and encouraged her to continue her studies. They supported her every step of the way, providing her with the resources she needed to succeed.

Karen's story is one of resilience and determination. Despite facing challenges, she never gave up on her goals. Her hard work and dedication paid off, and she is now a successful student.

Did France, Iran Make Post-Hostage Deal?

WASHINGTON -- Although our European allies have generally opposed efforts to negotiate a settlement with Iran over its hostage crisis, they are now reportedly considering a deal that would release the hostages in return for the release of some 1,000 political prisoners. The United States has also been negotiating with Iran, and it is believed that a deal may be close.

"It's very understandable," a U.S. source told the New York Times. "We have a lot at stake here." The source declined to elaborate, but it is believed that a deal may be possible.

"It's a very delicate situation," said another source. "We need to be careful." The source added that the negotiations are ongoing.

An intelligence source, who wished not to be identified, said that the situation was "very complex." The source added that the negotiations were "very sensitive." The source declined to elaborate.

Robert H. McCall, who is close to the administration, said that the situation was "very difficult." McCall added that the negotiations were "very sensitive." McCall declined to elaborate.

"We are not giving up hope," said a source in the United States. "We are working on the situation." The source added that the negotiations were "very complex."

HB Overstreet: More To Come

By Mike Overstreet

In the Herb Overstreet era, Oklahoma has been known as a team that builds a lot of victories on its home court. So it's not surprising that the Sooners are off to a strong start this season. They've won three of their first four games, including a victory over Kansas State last week. However, the Sooners still have some work to do if they want to make a deep run in the Big 12.

Even From The Start, Sooner Varsity-Alumni Tilt Different

By Al Harderick

This type of sport is one in which Oklahoma is a leading contender. The Sooners have been a dominant force in recent years, winning the national championship in 2017 and reaching the final four in 2018. However, the Sooners still have some work to do if they want to make a deep run in the Big 12.

Sports

Orioles End Loss Streak

The Baltimore Orioles have ended their longest losing streak of the season. After losing 11 straight games, the Orioles defeated the Texas Rangers 4-3 on Tuesday night. It's the team's first win in 14 days.

Desperate Defense

Oklahoma’s defense has been struggling this season, allowing the Sooners to score just 71.5 points per game. However, the Sooners have been playing better in recent games.

Carlton Stops Phils With Record 1-Hitter

By United Press International

Kansas City Royals pitcher Carlton Fisk was masterful on the mound tonight, striking out 11 batters and allowing just one hit for the first time in his career. Fisk’s performance helped the Royals beat reing 3-1.

At New Orleans

Watson Grabs 3-Stroke Lead

By Harry Watson

At the New Orleans Open, Ben Watson has taken a commanding lead with a 3-stroke lead over the field. Watson shot a 6-under par 66 on Thursday, the lowest score of the day.

Paydirt For Alums

Benjamin Alums were named the winning team of the annual OU Varsity-Alumni football game. Alums won the game, 35-10. It was the fourth straight year that the Alums have beaten the Varsity.

Farms Face Cost-Price Squeeze

WASHINGTON, DC (AP) — The cost of feeding the nation's growing appetite for meat has hit a new high, squeezing farmers and threatening the stability of the agricultural industry.

The crisis is part of a broader problem in the nation's meat industry, which has been struggling for years with low prices and high input costs.

U.S. Launches 2nd Trident

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has launched a second nuclear submarine, a move that could signal a shift in the nation's strategic priorities.

The submarine, named the USS Ohio, is the second of two planned Trident-class submarines. The first, the USS Virginia, was launched in 2003.

Russians Open Fire

KIEV, Ukraine (AP) — The Russian military has announced that it has opened fire on a Ukrainian military base, citing a ceasefire violation.

The move comes amid tensions between Russia and Ukraine, with both countries accusing each other of violating a ceasefire agreement.

Most Americans In Favor Of Raid

NEW YORK (AP) — A new poll shows that most Americans support a military raid on a country in the Middle East, with 62% of respondents saying they would support such an action.

The poll, conducted by the Pew Research Center, found that the majority of Americans believe that a military raid is necessary to protect the United States from potential threats.

Carter Denounced

WASHINGTON, DC (AP) — Former President Jimmy Carter has been criticized for his recent statements on the Middle East peace process.

Carter, who left office in 1981, has been active in promoting peace in the region, but his recent comments have been met with criticism from some quarters.

"I absolutely refuse to butcher your movies!"

—Gary Smith, Film Editor, KOKH-TV

At TV 25, I refuse to butcher a single one of our 25 weekly movies. In fact, a majority of our Monday-Sunday movies are剪辑版未剪辑版—uncommercial uninterrupted, with only three commercial interruptions! There are exceptions where material will... and it will suffice. My business is movies, and at TV 25 excellent Hollywood movies are shown 25 times a week for your FREE viewing pleasure.
'ASK A LAWYER'
OETA THURSDAY 7-9:00 PM
FREE LEGAL ADVICE
LAW DAY USA MAY 1, 1980

Residents of the Greater Oklahoma City Metropolitan area may call 667-6000 between 10:30 a.m. and 5 p.m. for free legal consultation with a local attorney.

Oklahoma lawyers play many roles -- prosecutor, advocate, officer of the court, public servant and civil leader.

This is a part of a series of the series "Ask a Lawyer," which is sponsored by the Oklahoma Bar Association.

Pressure cap should be checked

If you do not have a reading gauge for your service at the speedometer, there is one thing you can do to check the pressure cap. Take a tire pressure gauge and hook it up to the tire. If you feel the tire pressure gauge, take care of the problem immediately before it becomes too late. Make sure the function properly and that the cap is not damaged.

Disposal of used oil

Many communities are developing oil recycling programs. Check with your dealer or service station for details. Another source -- the classified pages of your local paper under "Used Oils."
Don't let gas crunch ruin vacation plans

The high price of gasoline and the uncertainty of its availability are putting a cramp in the country's summer travel plans. Here are some tips to help you avoid using too much gas on your next trip:

1. Plan your route ahead of time to avoid unnecessary stops and detours.
2. Check the weather forecast before you leave and adjust your plans accordingly.
3. Use the most fuel-efficient mode of transportation possible. This could be a carpool, public transit, or walking.
4. Consider using a bicycle or electric scooter if the distance is short and the terrain is flat.
5. Use the air conditioning sparingly and at a lower temperature to reduce energy usage.
6. Plan your meals in advance and cook at home instead of dining out.
7. Use energy-efficient appliances and light bulbs at home to save energy when you are not there.
8. Turn off the water when you are not using it to save on energy.
9. Consider staying in a hotel that has a walkable location to avoid using your car.
10. Use ride-sharing services or carpooling to save on fuel costs.

By following these tips, you can reduce your gas usage and enjoy your vacation with peace of mind.

Garbage A source Of Fuel

If you live in a city with a landfill, you may be able to turn your garbage into a source of energy. This could be done through composting or converting it into biofuel. Composting involves breaking down organic waste into a nutrient-rich soil amendment that can be used as a fertilizer. Biofuel can be made from a variety of sources, including grass, corn, and vegetable oils. By using this method, you can reduce your carbon footprint and save on energy costs.

Driver Says, 'Save 15' On Every Gallon Of Gas

I'm getting my money's worth from every gallon. Just showering from 70 to 80 mph on the highway saves enough gas to operate a car on a gallon's worth. Keeping my car tuned on 8 gallons is a good strategy.

In a rage at the Los Angeles Zoo, a 200-pound gorilla named Bubu snapped at a photographer's hand, then chased and bit the man. Bubu, a 24-year-old bull from a New York zoo, was transferred to the L.A. Zoo last秋天, but some of the animal's maneuvers, necessary for self-preservation, were considered dangerous. The animal's actions were consistent with those of other large primates observed in captivity.

Listening to the animal's sounds, it is clear that Bubu is not alone. But the significance of the event goes well beyond the observation of gorilla behavior. For Bubu's actions are an example of the kind of conflict that can occur when nature and human needs clash.

The L.A. Zoo is one of the few zoos in the world where gorillas are kept in captivity. Other zoos keep gorillas in smaller enclosures, and some have been criticized for not providing enough space for the animals to move around. The L.A. Zoo argues that it provides a natural environment for the animals, but critics say that it is not enough.

Bubu's actions are a clear example of the kind of conflict that can occur when nature and human needs clash. It is a reminder that zoos are not just places where animals are kept, but also places where people are kept.

Saving Our Wildlife

Twenty years ago, there were only 100 gorillas left in the wild. Today, due to legal and illegal poaching, there are more than 300. But how do we stop the illegal hunting? By taking action at the local level, we can help conserve these magnificent animals.

A few years ago, the gorilla population in the wild began to decline. The gorillas were being hunted for their meat, which was considered a delicacy in some parts of the world. As a result, the gorillas were becoming endangered.

Today, the gorilla population in the wild is stable. The gorillas are no longer being hunted for their meat, and their habitat is being protected. This is a great achievement, but we still have a long way to go.

Another species that is facing a similar threat is the orangutan. The orangutan population in the wild is also declining, and the species is considered endangered.

The orangutan is a most extraordinary creature. It is one of the largest primates, and it has a unique and complex behavior. The orangutan is a great example of the kind of conflict that can occur when nature and human needs clash.

The orangutan is a great example of the kind of conflict that can occur when nature and human needs clash. It is a reminder that we must take action to conserve these magnificent animals.
At 74, Henry Fonda Is the Prime Time of Life

By Suzy Koller

Henry Fonda is 74 years old. His pace slows a bit in the rain, and he wears a hearing aid. But put him in front of a camera and Fonda deftly age and time. He comes alive as Clarence Darrow, Young Mr. Lincoln, Mister Roberts and so many other Fonda characters we have been amused or delighted by over time. On the screen Henry Fonda is quite capable of dropping 25 years off his age. And just to prove it, he plays a 50-year-old man in the upcoming Hallmark Hall of Fame TV special, Gideon’s Trumpet (CBS, April 30). It is the story of Clarence Earl Gideon, a drifter who was out of jail from the time he was a teen-aged and who managed to affect the lives of every American citizen and the entire legal system of the U.S. by his simple, pen-written plea to the Supreme Court. Because of the plea, every American is now entitled to legal counsel if arrested for a crime.

The role of Clarence Earl Gideon is hardly one of the most majestic parts Fonda has played. But in his 90 or so films, the actor has played a diversity of roles, including men unlike himself. I am not Clarence Earl Gideon in person, or the theater critic I played in A Chorus of Disapproval,” sighs Fonda in his slow, modulated drawl (a souvenir of his Nebraska roots). “I wish I was. But I relish the opportunity to get up there every night and be those people. I’m not as intelligent or clever as they are. I’m really a simple guy. It takes a script to get me to be those other people. Mr. Gideon was not well educated or sophisticated like many of the men I have played, but he is nonetheless fascinating.”

Gideon’s life was not an easy one. He’s already been convicted of four small-time crimes when in 1962, he was charged with robbing a tobacco shop. Gideon asked for the state to provide him with an attorney since he was too poor to hire one himself. The state of Florida did not provide attorneys in all legal cases. He therefore defended himself but lost and went to prison. Eighteen months later he petitioned the U.S. Supreme Court, explaining that his civil rights had been violated.

Despite the fact that there was a legal precedent (Baker v. Brailsby) that had already determined that states did not have to provide lawyers, Gideon’s case was heard. And perhaps even more remarkably, Gideon won. Though Fonda has so often played notable, idealistic heroes such as the courageous migrant worker in The Grapes of Wrath (1940), Wyatt Earp in My Darling Clementine (1946) and the clear-minded lawyer in Twelve Angry Men (1957), Gideon hasn’t been in the vanguard of any movements—mainly because of his shyness. “I could never get up in front of a group of people and say what I was thinking. My daughter Jane is good at that,” not to mention speaking of Gideon’s disease. Fonda says he doesn’t necessarily believe in the movie. “But I do think it comes from someone,” he hopes. “I’ve given my kids good guidance as to how to live.”

Acting isn’t all Hank Fonda finds time for. He paints lovely watercolor on when not “out working.” Most of his subjects are home grown—vegetables and flowers from the backyard of his Bel-Air mansion. He also gets honey from his own hives.

So for Hank Fonda, life couldn’t be better—or sweeter.

Getting More for Your Home-Furnishings Dollar

By Rosalie Mervogas

Many people pass the point of being content with perfectly good furnishings and begin to look for new and better ones. The thought of replacing your living room set, or your bedroom furniture, may seem like a pipe dream to you. But it just might be that you are not getting the most out of the money you are spending. Here are some tips on how to save money on home furnishings:

1. Compare Prices:
   - Look for sales, especially during seasonal events like Black Friday or Memorial Day.
   - Compare prices online and in stores to get the best deal.

2. Quality Matters:
   - Invest in quality furniture that is well-made and designed to last a lifetime.
   - Choose materials that are durable and easy to maintain.

3. DIY
   - Consider purchasing supplies to build your own furniture with the help of online tutorials.
   - Refurbish old furniture to give it a new look and save money.

4. Rent or Lease:
   - Rent-to-own options can help you get the furniture you need without breaking your budget.
   - Consider leasing furniture for a set period of time, which can often be more affordable than buying.

5. Narrow Your Focus:
   - Focus on the areas that need the most attention first, then save up for other areas.

Remember, the key to getting more for your home-furnishings dollar is to be proactive and strategic. With a little bit of planning, you can create a beautiful and functional space that you will love for years to come.

What Your Hair Color Reveals About You

You may have chosen a hair color different from your own—and that's perfectly all right. If you chose it, you like it, and when you read the descriptions below, you may find that it's a better indicator of your true personality than your own color. If this is the case, you may want to consider a color change: as subtle or as dramatic as you like, depending on the image you want to project. For more information on ways to bring out your true hair-color personality, turn to page 14. Even if you're happy with your own color, you can pick up some ideas on how to make it better.

1. Dark Auburn: Like your distinctive beauty hair color, your temperament is individual. There's nothing timid about you. As a rule, you don't wait for things to happen, you make them happen. You play your lucky hunches and take the chance every time. If you didn't, life wouldn't be nearly as much fun. You're headstrong and cautious but ambitious enough to usually get what you want. Others admire your spirit.

2. Light Ash Brown: Your hair color is subtle and earth-toned. You, too, have a peaceful, down-to-earth outlook on life. You never come on strong to manage to make yourself known in your usual gentle manner. Most people see your modest, quiet side, but, underneath, you're brimming full of creative ideas. You're just selective with whom you share them. You treasure things of sentimental value as well as the sentimentalities of romance. When you're not with family and friends, you enjoy your private moments.

3. Golden Blond: Your warm, golden hair color draws people to you. They seem to instinctively know that you're a good listener, and they will go far to seek out your always sympathetic ear. You care deeply about those you trust and see faithful to friends. Your loved ones find comfort in being with you. An able loner—an opportunist, you love violins, candlelight, soft pants and understated clothes. You tend to see the rosier side of life and spend dream time waiting everyone else.

4. Light Ash Blond: Your sunny, light hair color reflects your bright and sunny personality. This is you lots of friends who admire your breezy style and outgoing, friendliness. You like change and are curious to try new things. This makes you a trend setter among your group. You're basically an optimist, but if dark clouds do come along to darken your carefree spirit, no one knows it but you. Your fun-loving nature usually puts you in the center of activity, which should come as no surprise because it's almost impossible for you to pass up a party.

5. Medium Dark Brown: You're a deeper, richer shade, more definite, earthier than the lighter ash brown above. Your personality reflects this in your confident, secure nature. You're drawn to the outdoors and love sports—particularly winning at them. People admire your ability to organize and keep things running smoothly.

6. Black: You're the deepest, most dramatic hair color—rich in exotic beauty. You also have an innate love for drama and a touch of the mysterious. You set very high standards for yourself and tend to be highly selective. When you want something, you go after it with passionate energy—and you usually win. You like pampering yourself.

What Your Hair Style Reveals About You

For a true picture of what your hair is really about you, be sure to read the descriptions of both your color and style, choices together. Of course, what you like and what your hair actually will do can involve some compromises.

Wash that gray right outta your hair.

Gray hair can make you feel too old. Okay so you've got some gray. You notice it every time you look in a mirror. And you know it just makes you look older. Well that's why we make Loving Care Color-Lotion.

Loving Care is easy.

Even for beginners. Pick the shade that's closest to your own natural color. Then just put it on, leave it on, and wash it off.

Loving Care has no peroxide or ammonium.

Unlike other haircolorings, Loving Care contains absolutely no peroxide. So there's no permanent color change. In fact, if you change your mind, it wears out gradually (about six shampoos).

LoveLoving Care is easy. So it even smells gentle. Loving Care adds body and shine to your hair. It actually makes your hair look thicker and fuller. And if you want to look younger, even feel younger, wash that gray right outta your hair with Loving Care.

With Loving Care, only Clairol has anything like it.

And Loving Care has no ammonium either. So it even smells gentle. Loving Care adds body and shine to your hair. It actually makes your hair look thicker and fuller. And if you want to look younger, even feel younger, wash that gray right outta your hair with Loving Care.

Do-It-Yourself Eye Test

Q: I think my 3-year-old needs glasses. But how can I know for sure when she checks whether she doesn’t know the letters of the alphabet.

A: There are special eye tests for

Q: I have a blue polyester pants suit that I want to dye navy, and a white nylon blouse I want to dye red. The cleaner won’t take the job; he says he can’t guarantee results. Can I dye it myself?

A: Not the pants suit. According to the instructions for the home-dye product, polyesters and acetates are not to be used. Dyes from home or commercial work best on natural fibers — cotton, silk, linen, wool. They also work well on synthetic materials such as rayon, nylon and acetate — as should you be able to dye your nylon blouse — because it is acrylic.

Solar Energy: Is It Practical?

Q: We’re building a new house in New England. Is it realistic to use solar energy to help heat your home? There are two approaches: passive and active. A passive solar system involves the design and construction of the house itself. A passive solar system is effective, but expensive. There are no passive solar systems in this area.

New Social Security Rules

Q: I will be 65 this year and eligible for Social Security. The Social Security Administration will soon be sending me a notice that my Social Security has been changed. This year, retired people 65 or over are allowed to earn $4,500 without losing benefits. If your income goes over that, you will lose $1 in Social Security benefits for every $2 in additional income. Each year that your income is in excess of an additional amount that may be median without penalty will be raised $500 until it reaches $6,000 in 1982.

Family Forum

By Marilyn Mercer

Observation

For every family, a country place is a sort of haven — a haven to return to after a stressful week, to catch your breath, and renew your spirit. Social security now provides that haven for more people than ever before. In fact, with the growth of the middle class, more people are looking for that kind of place to live. But it’s important to remember that the benefits of social security are not only financial. They also provide a sense of security and a feeling of belonging.

Look In the Sky...

In days of old, when we could only dream of being able to travel the world, the sky was a gateway to our imagination. Now, with the advent of technology, we can explore the skies through telescopes and satellites. The ability to reach out and explore the cosmos has opened up a world of new possibilities, allowing us to see beyond our own planet andinto the vast expanse of the universe. The journey of discovery continues, and we can only imagine what new wonders are yet to come.

In Laughlines The Best Medicine?

Elderly women often laugh their way through life, but do they have a better way of looking after themselves than their younger counterparts? A recent study showed that elderly women who laugh have a lower risk of developing heart disease. The study authors suggest that laughter may have a positive effect on the heart, as it helps to lower blood pressure and reduce stress. These findings highlight the importance of laughter in maintaining good health.
