Reagan, Carter Still Rolling

By United Press International

President Carter and Ronald Reagan were expected to visit their state capitals this week to shore up their economic priorities in Indiana, North Carolina, Florida and the District of Columbia, respectively.

Both major party delegations were expected to be active in their states, which are among the nation's capital, where Sen. Edward Kennedy was favored in the Democratic race.

In the House, there were 223 Dem- ocrats and 185 Republican delegations at stake. Carter and Reagan were expected to be able to count on at least three, despite the outcomes in the Senate, where the Republican's victory in Ohio and Pennsylvania was expected.

British Kill Terrorists

LONDON (UPI) - British police commandos stormed the besieged Iranian Embassy Mon- day, killing three of the Iranian hostages who were shot at, almost cutting off diplomatic relations between Britain and Iran.

Several of the five hostages were killed in the blast. The other two hostages were reported to be injured.

The violence and dramatic con- quest for the hostages was a result of the four-day standoff between the embassy and Iran, where the hostages were held.

For eight days, the hostages were under siege, with the British commandos trying to negotiate a safe passage for them.

The hostages were held in a basement below the ground floor of the embassy, where they were cut off from the outside world.

The commandos, after a long negotiations, finally managed to reach a deal with the Iranian authorities, who agreed to the hostages' release.

Cityians Save Too Much Water

By Martin Zook

OKLAHOMA CITY - City water sales are down 16 percent because customers are using less water. The water conservation program by customers has resulted in a decrease of about 1.5 billion gallons in the past year, according to the Oklahoma City Water and Sewer Authority.

The authority said the decrease is the result of water conservation by customers.

The city manager said the decrease in water consumption will help reduce water bills for customers.

Play It Again, Jimmy

November 1

Washington, D.C. — There’s a sense of déjà vu as President Jimmy Carter faces the prospect of another tough year in the White House.

"I am confident that the American people understand the difficulties that we face as a nation," said the president in his first year-end message to the nation.

However, many analysts believe that the president has yet to make the tough decisions that are necessary to address the nation’s problems.

"We have a lot of work to do," said one observer. "The president needs to show some leadership and take strong action to deal with the country’s challenges."

OPEC May Have Divided Ranks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sources close to the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries said Tuesday that the group is in danger of fracturing because of internal disagreements over how to respond to the rising price of oil.

The sources said that some members of OPEC, including Iran and Iraq, are pushing for a significant increase in production to bring down prices, while others, including Saudi Arabia and Kuwait, are resisting the move.

It was reported that there has been shouting in the chambers where members of OPEC gather. A source close to the group told the AP that a deal was set for Tuesday, but that the talks have now broken down.

Yugoslav Succession Confusing

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Yugoslav succession problem is complicating efforts to negotiate a peace settlement in the former Yugoslavia.

Washington officials said Tuesday that the United Nations is struggling to reconcile the conflicting nationalist claims of several ethnic groups in the federation.

White House Spokesman spokesman Mike McCurry told reporters that the administration was trying to work out a plan that would allow the Serbs, Croats, and Slovenes to maintain their autonomy while respecting the rights of the various ethnic minorities.

U.S. Penny Shortage Not Only In Pocket

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. government is facing a serious shortage of one-cent pieces.

The Mint has been forced to issue only a limited supply of pennies this year, and collectors are facing long lines at post offices and banks to exchange their nickels for pennies.

The shortage is being blamed on a decrease in the production of raw materials such as copper and zinc, which are used to make pennies.

OC Man Indicted

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — A man has been indicted on charges of theft and fraud.

The indictments, which were filed in Oklahoma County, charge the man with using a credit card fraudulently to obtain money from a local gas station.

The man, who is currently in custody, is expected to plead not guilty to the charges.
