Sanitation Services Cutback Proposal Set

Dr. Martin Back - The city's Finance Director, Dr. Martin Back, announced yesterday that the city was considering a proposal to cut back on sanitation services. The proposal, which is expected to be discussed at a City Council meeting next week, would result in a decrease of 15% in the city's sanitation budget. Back said the move is necessary to save money and improve the city's financial situation.

Turn Hand Towel Into Great Bib

DEAR HELPLINE: If you're the author of a small portable folding laundry hamper and wonder why I'm interested, you'll have to ask the man who's been using it for over a year. He's been quite pleased with the durability and convenience of the hand towel. I've been looking for something like this for a long time and was fortunate enough to come across it in our local hardware store. I now have it in my bathroom and it's made a big difference in my daily routine.

DEAR HELPLINE: I'm looking for a way to get that pesky soap from my corner shelf. I've tried using a towel, but it just keeps getting wet! Any suggestions? I've been using a hand towel to wipe the soap off, but it's not very effective. I'm looking for something that will keep the soap dry and make it easy to get to.

DEAR HELPLINE: I've been using a hand towel to dry my hands, but I've noticed that it's starting to get a little dirty. I'm looking for a way to keep it clean and fresh. Russell Keeps On Slugging Homers

Three more times when he was hit by a pitch or walked. In the ninth inning, he hit a solo home run to lead off the frame, giving him his 16th home run of the year. In the first inning, he hit a solo home run to lead off the frame, giving him his 16th home run of the year. He is perfectly in tune with the hot hitting that has been going on in the majors. His .335 batting average is second in the league. The Indians have been hitting much better than their 25-25 record might indicate, and Russell has been a big part of that. He is hitting .281 with 16 home runs and 29 doubles in 310 at-bats. His on-base percentage is .395. In the seventh inning, he hit his third home run of the game, giving him his 17th home run of the year. In the ninth inning, he hit his fourth home run of the game, giving him his 18th home run of the year. Conflicts Of Interest Abound In Legislatures

United Press International

By James O'Keefe

Washington (UPI) -- A report issued today by the Congressional Research Service of the Library of Congress charged that there was a "prevailing attitude" among some legislators that they were "above the law" and that their personal interests were more important than the interests of their constituents.

The report, titled "Conflict of Interest in Public Office," said that "a number of members of Congress have been accused of improper use of their official positions for personal gain.

It said that "some members have been accused of using their positions to obtain favors for friends or relatives, while others have been accused of using their influence to benefit themselves financially.

The report also said that "there is a lack of public confidence in the integrity of many members of Congress, and that some members have been accused of ethical lapses.

'Little Brothers' Are Dedicated To The Elderly

The Washington Post

By John E. DeLong

Washington (AP) -- "Little Brothers," a new group for the elderly, has been established in Washington to provide companionship and support for elderly people who are lonely or isolated.

The group, known as "Little Brothers," is made up of retired schoolteachers, doctors, and other professionals who volunteer their time to visit with elderly people who live alone.

"Little Brothers" was founded in 1980 by a group of volunteers who wanted to provide a service for elderly people who could not afford to hire personal care attendants.

The group has grown to include more than 500 members who volunteer their time to visit with elderly people who are lonely or isolated.

Sunflower Seeds Quell Urge To Smoke

The New York Times

By David K. Witt

New York (AP) -- Sunflower seeds have been shown to quell the urge to smoke, according to a study published today.

The study, which was conducted at the National Institutes of Health, found that consuming sunflower seeds significantly reduced the craving for cigarettes.

The researchers said that sunflower seeds contain a compound that blocks the release of the nicotine from cigarettes, thus reducing the desire to smoke.

They recommended that people who smoke consider incorporating sunflower seeds into their diet as a way to help reduce their smoking.

The study was conducted by Dr. John W. Smith, a researcher at the National Institutes of Health, and his colleagues.

The researchers said that they have found that the compound in sunflower seeds, called lignans, is effective in reducing the craving for cigarettes.

They noted that the compound works by blocking the release of the nicotine from cigarettes, thus reducing the desire to smoke.

More Women Starting Their Own Business

Each year, as small businesses and self-employment continue to grow, more and more women are taking the plunge and starting their own businesses. This year has been particularly significant as the number of female entrepreneurs has increased, making women the primary business owner in the United States.

According to recent statistics, women now start about 40% of new businesses, a significant increase from previous years. This trend is not only limited to a few industries but is prevalent across various sectors, from technology to fashion to food service.

Women entrepreneurs bring unique perspectives and experiences to the business world, often leading to innovative solutions and approaches. They are also more likely to focus on social and environmental issues, which is a growing concern in today’s market.

However, the road to success for female entrepreneurs is not always smooth. They often face unique challenges, including access to capital, networking, and discrimination.

Despite these challenges, the growth in the number of women-owned businesses is a testament to the resilience and determination of these entrepreneurs. The future looks bright for women in business, and it’s an exciting time to be witnessing such progress.

Marines Help Out Refugee Problems

The number of refugees seeking asylum in the United States continues to increase, and the military has been playing a crucial role in providing support and assistance. Marines, known for their military service, have been instrumental in helping these refugees during their transition to a new life.

In a recent initiative, a group of Marines volunteered to help set up temporary housing for refugees in a small town. They worked tirelessly to ensure the refugees were comfortable and safe, providing them with basic necessities and helping them adjust to their new environment.

This initiative not only highlights the selfless actions of the military but also underscores the importance of community support and collaboration in helping refugees integrate into society. It serves as a reminder that even in times of crisis, people can come together to make a positive difference.

Dentist Convicted In Fondling Case

A dentist in the Midwest has been convicted of fondling a patient during a routine examination. The patient, a young girl, reported the incident to authorities, and an investigation was launched.

The dentist was found guilty of sexual misconduct and is facing severe consequences, including possible revocation of his medical license. The incident has raised awareness about the importance of maintaining the highest standards of conduct in the medical profession.

The incident serves as a stark reminder of the need for vigilance in ensuring the safety and well-being of patients. It highlights the significance of trust between healthcare providers and their patients and the imperative of maintaining the highest ethical standards.
