CUBAN MiGs KILL 4 CREWMEM

Heavy thunderstorms developed in central Oklahoma early Tuesday evening, causing numerous homes and businesses to lose power. A severe thunderstorm warning was issued for the area, with winds gusting up to 60 miles per hour. The National Weather Service reported that the storms were part of a larger weather system moving across the region.

Cuban officials said Monday that they had taken two Cuban military planes to the airport for allegedly poaching birds. The officials said the planes were carrying 10-man crews.

Inflation, Recession Trigger More Thefts

By Mary Thibaud

New York, N.Y. (AP) — Inflation and recession are expected to trigger more thefts this year, according to a study of 120 police officials released today. The study found that the number of reported thefts increased by 20 percent last year, with the highest increases reported in the Midwest and West.

This year, officials said they expect thefts to rise even more, with the cost of living continuing to rise. They also expect a rise in the number of reported thefts in the Northeast, where many of the country's largest cities are located. Officials said they expect the number of unreported thefts to also increase, as people become more concerned about the economy and the possibility of losing their jobs.

Illinois Is Key State For ERA Ratification

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Illinois is key to the ratification of the Equal Rights Amendment (ERA), which would grant women the right to vote and hold public office. The ERA was proposed in 1972, but it has not been ratified by the states required for its adoption.

In Illinois, the amendment has been a major political issue. The state is home to a number of influential women's rights organizations, and it has been a leader in the fight for gender equality. The Illinois women's rights movement has been particularly active in the Chicago area, where it has been able to mobilize a significant base of support.

Carter Boosts Muskie At Expense Of Vance

By Jan Anderson

WASHINGTON, D.C. (AP) — President Carter has decided to boost his vice-presidential candidate, Senator Edmund Muskie of Maine, at the expense of his running mate, Senator Walter Mondale of Minnesota. Carter's decision comes as the campaign enters its final days, with both candidates struggling to gain ground.

The move is seen as a strategic decision, as Carter believes Muskie's reputation as a moderate will appeal to a wider range of voters. Mondale's campaign has been focused on his record as a national politician, but Muskie's more centrist approach is expected to resonate with voters.

Beware Of All Adjustable Mortgage Traps

Sylvia M. Porter

Adjustable mortgages — which carry interest rates that fluctuate with market conditions — can be risky for homebuyers. They can lead to unexpected increases in monthly payments, which can strain budgets and put homes at risk of foreclosure. However, adjustable mortgages can also be a good fit for certain types of borrowers, particularly those with stable income and a long-term plan to remain in the home.

There are several key factors to consider when choosing an adjustable mortgage. First, it's important to understand how the interest rate is determined, as it can affect the monthly payment. Some adjustable mortgages have a fixed rate for a set period, while others have a variable rate that changes periodically. It's important to know what rate is charged and how often it will change.

Another factor to consider is the degree of adjustment. Some adjustable mortgages have a cap on how much the rate can change, while others have a larger range of possible changes. It's important to understand how these limits will affect the monthly payment.

Finally, it's important to consider the overall economic climate when choosing an adjustable mortgage. If interest rates are expected to increase, an adjustable mortgage may be a better fit than a fixed-rate mortgage, as the lower initial rate can provide significant savings.

It's important to carefully consider the pros and cons of adjustable mortgages before making a decision. By understanding the potential risks and rewards, borrowers can make informed decisions that will benefit them in the long run.

BOGOTA, Colombia (UPI) - Ernesto Alfonso, a 28-year-old Argentine, is the first Latin American to compete in the 1988-89 TransAntarctic expedition. Mr. Alfonso has been training in Antarctica for the past year, and is expected to complete the journey in 15 months.

The expedition is sponsored by the Antarctic Research Council and includes scientists, farmers, and businesspeople. It is designed to promote international cooperation in Antarctica and to study the effects of global warming on the environment.

English Commandos Obscure Again

LONDON (UPI) — When the killing began, the English commandos were on the island of Zanzibar, some of the closest friends of British officers, officials, and businessmen. They had been trained in the jungle and the desert, and were expected to take on the German commandos in a battle of wits and strength.

The English commandos were a super-elite regiment of the British army, trained in the fiercest battles of the war. They were well-armed and well-trained, and they had the reputation of being almost invincible.

But the English commandos were outnumbered and outgunned. They were surrounded by the German commandos, and they knew that they had to fight for their lives.

The English commandos fought bravely, but they were ultimately overwhelmed. They were forced to retreat to the jungle, but they continued to fight. They were determined to prevent the German commandos from taking over the island.

The English commandos were eventually captured by the German commandos, but they continued to fight. They would not give up.

The English commandos were a force to be reckoned with. They were a symbol of the British spirit, and they showed that even in the darkest times, there is always hope.
