Volcanic Eruption in Kamchatka

The eruption fanned an area the size of a cloud across the United States and continued to threaten three more populated areas with the potential for future danger. The volcano's dangerous situation had been identified by experts from the U.S. Geological Survey.

The volcano has grown larger since its eruption began, and experts believe it could continue to show signs of activity for weeks or months. Officials cautioned that the volcano remained a threat and could become more dangerous at any time.

The volcano is a significant threat to the people living in the area, and officials are urging residents to stay vigilant and take precautions.

Breakfast Meetings Bad For The U.S.

President Carter just had breakfast with Saudi oil ministers and other foreign oil executives in his office last week. Breakfast meetings are not only a waste of time, but they may cause real harm to the U.S. economy. Carter should be meeting with leaders of the oil-producing countries in a formal setting, and not in a casual breakfast meeting. Carter should also meet with leaders of the oil-producing countries in a formal setting, and not in a casual breakfast meeting. Stopping Rug Twists

Dear Reader,

Rug twists can be quite annoying, especially when they occur on the edges of your rugs. Here are a few tips to help you prevent and handle rug twists:

1. Use rug tape at the edges:
   - Cut strips of rug tape and apply them to the back of your rug, especially along the edges. This will help keep the rug in place and prevent the twists.

2. Use a rug pad:
   - A rug pad can provide extra support and help keep the rug flat. Make sure the pad is the right size for your rug.

3. Regular cleaning:
   - Regularly clean your rug to remove any dirt or debris that could cause the rug to twist. Use a vacuum or broom to clean from top to bottom.

4. Professional cleaning:
   - If the twists are persistent and affecting the look of your rug, consider professional cleaning.

These are just a few tips to help you handle rug twists. Happy rug handling!

Gonzalez Streak Ends, 89ers Lose

By Dana Bishop

The Oklahoma City Stars have been on a bit of a hitting surge recently, but it came to an end Tuesday night in a 13-1 loss to the Henderson Red Sox. The Stars had won four straight games before the Red Sox put on a clinic in front of a sellout crowd at the OKC Ballpark. The Stars had been hitting well, with a .275 team average, but the Red Sox had one of the best pitching staffs in the league, and it showed.

The Stars' hitting surge came to an end as the Red Sox's pitching staff dominated the game. The Stars had a 3-0 lead going into the sixth inning, but the Red Sox scored 10 runs in the inning to take control of the game. The Stars were only able to score one run in the rest of the game, as the Red Sox's pitching staff kept the Stars off the board.

The Stars will now have to regroup and get back to work on Wednesday when they face the Amarillo Dukes. The Dukes are one of the better teams in the league, so the Stars will have their work cut out for them. The Stars will need to get their hitting back on track if they are to have any chance of winning the series against the Dukes.
