Harriet Van Horne

You’d Better Sleep Through The ‘80s

NEW YORK CITY – It has been an interesting summer for Harriet Van Horne. After years of being bored with the mundane routines of her job as a bank clerk, she decided to take a class in public speaking. The result? A career change and a new passion for life.

"I never thought I'd be this excited about something," said Horne. "When I opened my mouth, I felt alive. It was like waking up from a long, dormant state.

But it wasn't just the thrill of speaking that caught her attention. She loved the audience reaction. The way they would laugh, cry, and gasp at her words. It was as if she had found a new language to express herself.

"I want to be a storyteller," she said. "I want to capture moments with the power of words and make people feel something."

Stan Mikita: A More Lasting Fame

Bob Greene

And when a man is that family friendly, the family is more important. Stan Mikita is a great example of this. He was not only a great player, but also a great person.

"He had a way of making everyone feel special," said Greene. "He was humble and down-to-earth. It's rare to find someone who is so successful and yet so grounded.

"But it's more than just his play. He gave back to the community. He did charity work and was always there for those in need. It's a legacy that will last longer than any trophy.

Horse Sense And Hogwash

Paul Harvey

"Sure, I wish I could stop the world and catch up with all the interesting people I've met," said Harvey. "But sometimes it's hard to keep up with the pace of life.

"I try to take a moment to appreciate the little things," he continued. "Like the smell of fresh-baked bread or the sound of a baby's giggle. It's these moments that make life worth living.

NCAA Golf Postponed

COLEMAN (Via-AP) — The NCAA's decision to postpone the Division I men's golf championships for the first time in 41 years due to rain and thunderstorms will likely be assessed in the future.

The University of Arkansas/New Mexico State match was delayed on Friday as a result of inclement weather, and the tournament was postponed to Monday morning. The tournament, which was originally scheduled for Thursday-Saturday, will now be played on Tuesday-Sunday.

"We're certainly not happy with the situation," said University of Arkansas/New Mexico State head coach Ben Howle. "But we understand the safety concerns and appreciate the NCAA's efforts to ensure the safety of all participants and spectators.

"We will do everything we can to make up for the lost time and ensure that our players are ready to compete.
