REAGAN AGAIN SWEEPSS STATE

By Barry Caldwell
ROANOKE, VIRGINIA (UPI) - Former California Gov. Ronald Reagan, who captured all of this state's delegates at the Democratic National Convention, has been named the Democratic presidential nominee.

The Democratic delegates, all 57, cast their votes to select their candidate. The votes were counted and the results were announced.

Governor Reagan, speaking from the convention floor, thanked the delegates for their support and pledged to work hard for the Democratic ticket.

He said, "I am honored to have been nominated by my party and I will do my best to serve the people of this great nation."

WASHINGTON (UPI) - President Carter's speech lasted about 45 minutes and was received with mixed reactions. Some delegates were pleased with his speech, while others found it lacking. However, most agreed that it was a step in the right direction.

One delegate, who had been critical of the President's previous speeches, said, "I think he did a good job today. He talked about the economy and how we need to work together to solve the problems facing our country." Another delegate added, "I thought he did a better job today than he has in the past."

Strenuous Exercising Best Way To Lose Weight

By Theodore D. Magoridian

The best exercise for losing weight:

Exercise important for weight loss. But, the best exercise for losing weight? A new study suggests a surprising answer: doing nothing. Researchers found that people who did nothing, except for their everyday activities, lost more weight than those who exercised. The study, published in the Journal of Physical Activity, looked at 1,000 people who were randomly assigned to either an exercise group or a no-exercise group. The exercise group was told to walk at least 30 minutes each day, five days a week. The no-exercise group was told to do nothing. After six months, the no-exercise group lost an average of 3.5 pounds, while the exercise group lost an average of 1.5 pounds. The researchers say that the no-exercise group was able to lose weight because they were more active in their everyday lives. They were more likely to walk up stairs instead of taking the elevator, and to take the stairs instead of the elevator. They also ate healthier foods, and were more likely to cook at home. The researchers say that the results suggest that the best way to lose weight is to do nothing. They say that the results also suggest that exercise is not the best way to lose weight. They say that exercise is not as effective as changing everyday habits. They say that the best way to lose weight is to do nothing, and to eat healthier foods, and to be more active in your everyday life.

Sugar Prices Grieving Shoppers, Farmers Alike

NEW ORLEANS (AP) - Raw sugar prices have climbed almost 100 percent in one week, a prospect that ails both farmers and retailers. But growers still expect prices to drop as the growing season nears.

The U.S. Sugar Corporation said today that prices, which were $1.09 a pound on March 19, had reached $2.22 by 5 p.m. a week later, when they were pulled out of the market.

"Sugar prices are going to be very volatile," said a grower in Louisiana. "But the overall market is in trouble." He added that many of the producers are not sure they can pay their bills.

The increase in sugar prices comes at a time when the industry is facing a potential shortage of sugar. It has been one of the worst years for sugar production in the United States, with only about 90 percent of the normal yield.
