REPORT BLASTS RAID PLANNING

WASHINGTON (UPI) - A secret Senate Armed Services Committee report concludes the 89ers, the new U.S. Army battering ram, use the cover of secret orders to plan a massive raid on the Island of New York. The Senate committee charged the military with using "tactical secrecy" to plan the attack.

The committee reported that the Army's secret plans, which it said were "clearly in violation of the law," had been approved by the Joint Chiefs of Staff. The committee report cited testimony from soldiers and commanders who said the plans were "clearly" in violation of the law.

The Senate report, which was not released to the public, said the military had used "secret" plans to plan the attack. The report said the military had used "tactical secrecy" to plan the attack.

Nauni Needs Support

Dear Editor,

You can make a difference in the life of our fellow student, Nauni. He is a bright young man with a passion for social justice, but he is struggling to meet the financial demands of his education. Please consider donating to his scholarship fund. Every little bit helps.

Nauni's story is just one of many on campus. We are all here to support each other, and I believe that we can make a difference in Nauni's life. Let's come together and make a difference.

Sincerely,

Where Are The Liberal Democrats?

It is my opinion that the Liberal Democrats are not where they once were. They have become so liberal that they are now the Liberal Party. Only the name has stayed the same. The Liberal Democrats have become the Liberal Party because they have abandoned their principles and embraced the extreme left.

Thanks For Kyle Goddard

Dear Editor,

Thank you for your recent coverage of Kyle Goddard. His work as a student organizer is truly inspiring. I urge everyone to support his efforts in the upcoming elections.

McCorkell Going A Bit Too Far?

McCorkell's recent comments about the United States' role in World War II are controversial. He has stated that the United States was not the only force in the war and that the Allies should have been more aggressive.

Soviet leader, G. Zhukovsky, has denied McCorkell's statements, saying that the United States played a vital role in the war and that the Allies were the victors.

The Big Jump" Sometimes Is Hard To Make

OKLAHOMA CITY — It was only a year ago that the Oklahoma City Fire Department took the bold move of promoting its first female firefighters. Now, after several months of hard-fought battles, it appears that the new recruits have established themselves well within the ranks of the service.

The recruits, who were selected from a pool of 200 applicants, have been training for the past five months and are now ready to begin their career as firefighters.

"The Big Jump" is a phrase used to describe the transition from training to full-time duty. It is a challenging and difficult process, but one that is essential for building the skills and confidence needed to perform at a high level.

"This has been a long and arduous process," said Fire Chief John Morgan. "But we are confident that these new firefighters will make a great addition to our department. They have shown great dedication and determination throughout their training and we know they will continue to excel in their new roles.

"The Big Jump" is not only about physical fitness and technical skills. It is also about the mental and emotional challenges that come with becoming a firefighter. The recruits have had to overcome fear and uncertainty, and learn to work in a team environment.

"It's not easy," said one of the recruits, "but I'm glad I did it. Being a firefighter is a rewarding experience and I'm excited to see what the future holds for me.

The recruits will begin their new roles as probationary firefighters, which means they will be subject to a period of evaluation and training. If they prove successful, they will be promoted to full-time status.

"Our department is proud to have some of the best firefighters in the state," said Chief Morgan. "And we look forward to welcoming these new members to our team.

The Oklahoma City Fire Department is committed to providing the highest level of service to the people of Oklahoma City. We will continue to work hard to ensure that our firefighters are well-trained and well-equipped to respond to emergencies.

If you have any questions or would like to learn more about the Oklahoma City Fire Department, please feel free to contact us.

Lewis escape try failed, So did agent's coverup

By Gene Leavens

Astonishingly, Lewis made a 13-hour escape attempt on Thursday, and the FBI and Secret Service were so sure that he was a big fish that they assigned a whole team of agents, including a top-secret agent, to the task. But after more than 12 hours, the agents were unable to contact Lewis, who had not been seen since 6 p.m. on Thursday.

"They thought he was a big fish," said Secret Service agent John Smith. "But we couldn't find him. It's a real mystery."}

Urban Cowboy' a crossroads for Travolta

"Urban Cowboy," the new film starring John Travolta, has been met with mixed reviews. Some critics have praised Travolta's performance, while others have criticized his portrayal of a cowboy.

"It's a great role," said Travolta. "I feel like I've really captured the essence of a cowboy."
Nicholson shines in most bizarre role

Urban Cowboy

John Travolta's Urban Cowboy is based on a true story of two young Southerners who came to Dallas to make their fortunes. The film is set in the 1970s, a time of great change and upheaval. Travolta plays the role of Bud, a young man from a small town in Texas who dreams of making it big in the city. With the help of his friend, Ron, they open a brothel in Dallas and quickly become rich and famous. But their success comes at a price, and they must navigate the dangers of the city's seamy underbelly. The film is a fast-paced, action-packed thriller that is sure to please fans of Travolta's work.
