Doctor Says Indians 2nd Fattest People

By Nadia Lewis

OKLAHOMA CITY — Dr. West, professor of medicine at the University Health Research Institute, has released a new report stating that Native Americans are the second fattest people in the world. Dr. West points to cultural and environmental factors as contributing to the high rates of obesity among Native Americans.

When they begin to get jobs and earn enough money to eat whenever they want, he said, they may face problems with overeating.

We must remember that the first step in any diet is to eat healthy foods. It doesn't matter if you're on a low-carb diet or a high-protein diet, as long as you're eating well-balanced meals that are rich in vitamins and minerals.

Dr. West said that obesity among Native Americans is not just a health issue, but also an economic one. Many Native American communities are located in areas where access to healthy food is limited, making it difficult for them to maintain a healthy diet.

When you're on an diet, you must be aware of the types of foods you are eating. Be sure to include plenty of fruits and vegetables in your diet, as well as lean proteins and whole grains.

There is no single diet that works for everyone. What works for one person may not work for another. It's important to find a diet that works for you, and to stick with it.

The most important thing is to make small, consistent changes to your diet and lifestyle. Over time, these changes can lead to significant improvements in your health.
News In Brief

S. Africans Die in Crashes

At least 15 people were killed and scores were injured in two head-on crashes involving South African police buses in Natal, South Africa. Both crashes occurred during rush hour on major roads in Durban, the largest city in Natal. The crashes happened at about 3 a.m. and 6 a.m., respectively, and were caused by police buses colliding with cars. The buses were traveling at high speeds. The police are investigating the cause of the crashes, which were the deadliest of its kind in the region in recent years.

Cubans Face Deportation

The government of the United States has reiterated its stance that it will not allow Cubans to enter the country as refugees. The decision comes after a string of registrations by Cuban migrants arriving in the southern Florida Keys. The United States has been receiving up to 10,000 Cubans a month seeking asylum, according to reports. The U.S. government has been under pressure from other countries to accept more migrants, and it has faced criticism for its immigration policies.

Bolivia Condemns U.S.

The Bolivian government has condemned the United States for its decision to withdraw from the United Nations Human Rights Council. Bolivia's Foreign Minister, David Choquehuanca, announced that his country would not participate in any future council sessions, and that it would instead support other Latin American countries in their efforts to remain in the council. The decision comes after the United States announced its intention to pull out of the council, citing a lack of effectiveness and accountability.

'Cat Woman' Jailed

The actress who played the role of 'Cat Woman' in the 1960s television series has been arrested for allegedly stealing a diamond ring. The actress, who has not been named, was arrested in Los Angeles and charged with grand theft. The ring, valued at $50,000, was taken from a jewelry store in Beverly Hills. The actress has denied any wrongdoing.

Pot Instead Of Oil?

A new report by the United Nations has warned that the world is moving too quickly towards oil as a source of energy. The report, released on Tuesday, states that the world's energy mix should be diversified to include more renewable sources, such as wind and solar, to reduce reliance on fossil fuels. The report also highlights the need for greater investment in energy efficiency and the development of new technologies.

Land At Last

A developer has announced plans to build a new housing development on a parcel of land in the Los Angeles area. The developer, who has not been named, says the project will include 1,000 homes and will be built on a 10-acre site. The site, which was previously a commercial property, is located in a growing area of the city and is expected to attract many new residents.

Clark: Hush-Hush

Despite rumors of a romantic involvement between President Ronald Reagan and actress Farrah Fawcett, the White House has refused to comment on the matter. A White House official said that the president and Ms. Fawcett have been friendly for many years and that nothing untoward has occurred. The official added that the president has a strong moral code and that he would not condone any improper behavior.

Override May Hurt

A proposed bill to override a seniority provision in a collective bargaining agreement could hurt workers in the Los Angeles area. The ordinance, which is supported by some labor groups, would allow employers to make staffing changes without regard to seniority. The ordinance is opposed by some unions, who say it would lead to job losses for experienced workers.

State Voters To Get 8 Or 9 Questions

By David E. Johnson

The Journal | Sunday, June 9, 1980

Voters in the upcoming state election will be asked to consider eight or nine issues, depending on how the Legislature handles the final vote on a new constitutional amendment.

The amendment, which passed in both chambers of the Legislature, would allow the state to impose an income tax if the voters approve it in the election.

Nuclear Vote

Establishing a moratorium on nuclear testing is a major step forward in the quest for peace. It is a step that体现了 the United States' commitment to reducing the risk of nuclear proliferation. The moratorium, which is expected to reduce the risk of accidental nuclear tests, will also help to reduce the risk of accidental nuclear tests.

Political Races National Disgrace

There are many reasons why the political races are a national disgrace. One of the main reasons is that they are often characterized by corruption and, as a result, they are often seen as rigged. This is why it is so important to vote for candidates who are honest and who will work to ensure that the system is fair.

What Today's Kids Think About Their Lives and Futures

By Marilyn Murray Wilson

Recent years have been an exciting time for families, as parents and teachers work together to address the challenges faced by young people in today's world. Interviews with students have revealed that their priorities differ from those of their parents, and there is a growing awareness of the need for open communication and understanding.

The students' lives are influenced by a variety of factors, including social media, technology, and personal goals. Some students are focused on achieving high grades and excelling in extracurricular activities, while others prioritize their own happiness and well-being.

One area that has garnered significant attention is the topic of school shootings. Students are concerned about their safety and the measures that schools are taking to ensure their well-being. Many students have expressed a desire for more support and resources to help them cope with stress and anxiety.

In conclusion, it is clear that today's students are navigating a complex and ever-changing world. As parents and educators, we must continue to listen and learn from their experiences, and work together to create a supportive environment that fosters their growth and development.

What Makes For Good Marriages?

It is a myth that money is the key to a happy marriage. While it is true that money can make life easier, it is not the only factor that makes for a good marriage. Marriages that are based on mutual respect, trust, and communication are the most successful. It is important for couples to communicate their needs and wants to each other. It is also important for couples to support each other emotionally and financially. For example, if one partner is struggling financially, the other partner should support them emotionally and financially. A happy marriage is not always easy, but it is definitely worth the effort. With hard work, dedication, and love, a happy marriage can be achieved.

Another one, medicine man?

Yeah?

Tear it up! Just look at that beauty!

I can hardly wait to try it out!

If I were you, I'd get out of there, fast.

Rattle! Rattle! Rattle!

POOF

Well, here's one!
