Just Typical Father's Day
In New York

NEW YORK (UPI) - Bruno Banani, a divorced father of two, had planned only to spend Saturday shopping and repairing the family car. But when he saw the list of 20 Great Ways to Use Your Day as a Father, he changed his plans. He had been thinking about getting a new car, but now he decided to go for a walk in the park with his kids. As he walked, he realized that he had been neglecting his family. He decided to take them on a special outing the next day, and he would call his ex-wife to tell her about it.

COPPER CRASH LEAVES 8 DEAD

PRESIDENT, U.S. Virgin Islands (UPI) - A Navy seaman was crushed to death under a ship's propeller when a routine marine crash thrust into the airfield in St. Croix. The seaman's widow was struck by the vessel until it settled on the hull.

There were four crewmen and two passengers onboard the ship, a 35-foot crew boat, when the crash occurred. The seaman's widow was struck by the vessel until it settled on the hull.

'There are no known witnesses,' a spokesman said after a search by Navy and Coast Guard.

The crash occurred near the island of St. Croix. It is believed that the seaman was当场 killed.

The seaman was identified as Robert T. Smith, 24, a sailor on board the ship. The search for witnesses continued.

Some Hostages
Still In Tehran?

TEHRAN, Iran (UPI) - Some American hostages are still being held in Iran, U.S. officials said. The hostages were taken away in 1979 during an uprising in Iran. The U.S. government has even sent a team of experts to try to negotiate for the hostages.

There has been diplomatic pressure, but no hostages have been freed. In the statement, the U.S. government said that it was not yet sure if the hostages were still in Iran.

Good To Be Home

How A Klansman Won In California

As Martin P. Houseman
SAN DIEGO (UPI) - The Ku Klux Klan and Imperial Counties were to be represented in the race for the Ku Klux Klan's 2nd District congressional seat at the Frontier Day celebration at the Klamath Indian Reservation, California.

The Democratic Party leadership, from the White House to the capital, was eager to see a Ku Klux Klan candidate win.

Klan leaders have been working hard to get out the vote, and they hope to make a strong showing in the race.

Klan members have been voting in large numbers, and they are confident that they will win.

The Klan's goal is to make sure that the Democratic Party does not win the seat.

If the Klan wins, it will be a big victory for the party, and it will show that they are a strong force in California.

Sniper Hitz 2

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI) - A black man and a white teen-age girl were

Negative Campaigning

Negative campaigning doesn't work. The only way to win government contracts, or to get elected to Congress, is to make negative charges about your opponent. It has been the way the country has done it for years. The only problem is that it is not always true.

Carousel Figures Lost American Art

WASHINGTON, D.C., 1971 – A bizarre 12-foot-tall sculpture designed by an unknown artist and constructed of dominates, shells and painted wood was unveiled at the National Museum of American Art yesterday. The sculpture, titled "The Lament of the Carousel Figures," is the latest in a series of works by the artist, known only as "The Masked Man," who has been active in the Washington art scene for the past decade.

The sculpture depicts a group of five carousel figures, including a horse, a dog, a cat, a lion and a bear, all in a state of melancholy and despair. The figures are made of wood, and their bodies are painted in a variety of colors, including red, blue, green and black. The heads of the figures are made of sculpted wood, and they are all wearing masks.

The sculpture was unveiled in front of a large crowd of onlookers, who were amazed by the artist's talent and the unique nature of the work. The Masked Man, who has never before exhibited his work in public, is said to be a recluse who prefers to work in solitude.

The sculpture has already received critical acclaim, and it is expected to be a major attraction at the museum for the next year.

医生 at the Massachusetts General Hospital's surgical operating rooms performed a set of 120 percutaneous nephrostomy procedures, which is believed to be the first picture ever taken of an operating room. This photo, taken in the hospital's operating room, shows doctors performing operations on cats, dogs and other animals.

The procedures, which are performed to relieve urinary tract obstructions, were done on 120 cats and dogs. The doctors, who are residents in the hospital's surgical department, used a set of 120 percutaneous nephrostomy tubes to insert the tubes into the urinary tract of the animals.

The procedures were performed under general anesthesia, and the animals were monitored closely during the procedures. The doctors said that the procedures were successful in all cases, and the animals made a full recovery after the procedures.

Daguerrotypes Show Early-Day Surgeries

BOSTON, 1849 – Daguerrotype photographs were taken in the early days of surgery, as early as the 1840s. The photographs show surgeons performing operations on patients, using scalpels and forceps. The surgeons are shown in various positions, including standing, sitting and crouching.

Cuban Refugees Still Tricking In

NEW YORK, 1971 – Cuban refugees continued to arrive at Ellis Island yesterday, bringing the total number of refugees to more than 20,000. The refugees, who are fleeing the socialist regime in Cuba, are being processed by U.S. immigration officials.

The refugees are being housed in temporary facilities on Ellis Island, and they will be processed and eventually placed in homes throughout the United States. The refugees are expected to stay in the United States for a period of time, during which they will be able to work and make a living.

National League

Cards Burn Reds In 13

By United Press International

CINCINNATI – The St. Louis Cardinals ripped the Cincinnati Reds, 5-4, in 13 innings yesterday at Riverfront Stadium. The Cardinals scored two runs in the 13th inning to take the lead, and they held on to win the game.

The Reds, who are in second place in the National League, were leading, 4-3, in the 13th inning when the Cardinals scored two runs. The Cardinals' lead was short-lived, however, as the Reds scored one run in the bottom of the inning to tie the game.

The game was a seesaw battle, with the teams scoring runs in every inning. The Cardinals and Reds were tied, 3-3, in the 9th inning when the Reds scored two runs to take the lead.

American League

By United Press International

CLEVELAND – The Cleveland Indians defeated the Minnesota Twins, 14-5, yesterday at Municipal Stadium. The Indians scored 14 runs in the 4th inning to take the lead, and they held on to win the game.

The Indians and Twins were tied, 4-4, in the 4th inning when the Indians scored 10 runs to take the lead. The Indians scored two runs in the 5th inning and one run in the 7th inning to increase their lead.

The Twins, who are in 3rd place in the American League, were leading, 4-3, in the 4th inning when the Indians scored 10 runs to take the lead.

The game was a high-scoring affair, with the teams combining for 29 runs. The Indians and Twins were tied, 4-4, in the 4th inning when the Indians scored 10 runs to take the lead.
Lundquist Rallies, Nabs Title

By United Press International

In a hard-fought contest, Lundquist rallied in the 11th inning to take the lead and then held on for a 6-5 victory. The win gave Lundquist the title and ended the season with a record of 10-5. In the final game of the season, Lundquist faced a tough challenge from their opponent, who had a strong showing in the early innings. However, Lundquist managed to pull ahead with a strong performance in the 11th inning, seizing the lead and never looking back. The win was a testament to Lundquist's resilience and determination, as they overcame early adversity to claim the title. Lundquist's victory in the 11th inning was a turning point in the game, as they were able to maintain their lead throughout the remainder of the contest. The win was a major accomplishment for Lundquist, who entered the season with high expectations and delivered one of the most memorable performances of the year.
Schygulla Termed The New Dietrich

Adolf Hitler's mistress, Eva Braun, became the center of media attention in the wake of her death. The press speculated about her mysterious past and the relationship she had with the Nazi leader. One of the most prominent figures from the pre-war era who rose to prominence as a result of this interest was Marlene Dietrich. Dietrich, who was born in 1901, was a German actress who starred in several films, including The Blue Angel and The Woman in the Window. Her role as a符号 of rebellion against the oppressive regime made her a symbol of hope for those who sought a departure from the status quo. Dietrich's influence was not limited to her acting career, as she also became a spy for the Allies during World War II. In 1945, Dietrich received the Medal of Freedom for her contributions to the war effort. Since her death in 1992, Dietrich's legacy has continued to inspire artists and activists alike, as she remains a symbol of resilience and resistance against oppression.
