Tax Law Can Help Take Sting Out Of College

Even if you’re not college-bound, or have no children who are, you can still save some money on your taxes. The Education Savings Act of 1996 created a new tax-advantaged account for college savings. The Act allows parents to contribute up to $5,000 per year (a maximum of $10,000 for a married couple) into a Coverdell Education Savings Account (ESA) for their child’s education. The account can be used for tuition, textbooks, room and board, and other related expenses.

Thoughts

There’s a great way to do well by doing good. Your child’s education can benefit from your contributions. The ESA is a terrific way to support your child’s education and save for the future. It’s a win-win situation for both you and your child.

Bottom Of Order Paces Mariners Past Rangers

By United Press International

Wynne Wells and Larry Cox, the two men who hit the only home run of the game and the only leadoff home run in the history of the Texas Rangers, led the team to a 5-2 win over the Minnesota Twins on Wednesday at the Kingdome.

Wells, a 25-year-old catcher, hit his first career home run in the first inning, a solo shot off Twins pitcher Jack Morris. The home run was the first leadoff home run in the majors since 1985.

Cox, a 23-year-old shortstop, followed with a three-run home run off Twins reliever Jeff Reardon in the fifth inning. It was Cox's third career home run.

The Mariners won their seventh straight game, matching a team record set in 1988.

Ambitious father, apologetic daughter

By Carol Flament

American News

In his new biography of his wife's father, author John T. Bowers offers a glimpse into the life of an ambitious man who fought for his daughter's success.

W. A. S. W. Swarthmore's marriage was rocky. Swarthmore’s father had died when he was young, leaving his mother to raise him alone. Swarthmore was determined to make his mark in the world, and his daughter’s talent was the key to his success.

Swarthmore’s daughter, a talented actress, struggled to find success in the entertainment industry. Her father, who had made his fortune in the oil business, did everything he could to support her career.

Despite Swarthmore’s efforts, his daughter faced many challenges. She struggled to find work, and the pressure to succeed often took a toll on her mental health.

In the end, Swarthmore’s daughter succeeded beyond his wildest dreams. She went on to become a household name, and her father’s legacy lives on through her work.

Frontier City employees were a little taken aback when, shortly after the season opened, they received a letter from the Salvation Army asking for their cooperation in allowing the Army to use the park for a fund-raising event by the Salvation Army. The offer was accepted, and the Army arranged a concert to be held at Frontier City. The event was successful, and the Army was able to raise a significant amount of money. It was a great example of how Frontier City employees came together to help a good cause.

"I like to encourage people to clean up the place," says a Frontier City employee. "If they have a lot of trash or dirt, they'll be considered for the award." The employee says that this is a great way to help the park look better.

Foghat are known for their hard rock sound and their ability to get people dancing. They have been playing together for many years and have become one of the most popular bands in the world. Their music has a lot of energy and is perfect for playing at concerts.

The concert at Frontier City was a huge success. The crowd was huge and everyone was happy to be there. The band played all of their hits and the crowd went wild. It was a great night for everyone involved.

Everyone has been talking about how good Foghat looks on stage. They have a great stage presence and the crowd really seemed to be enjoying themselves. It was a great night and everyone is already looking forward to the next one.

is called an EP (extended play) as opposed to the 12-inch LP (long player). Epic Records is releasing a new line of 10-inch, 33-and-a-third albums to appease record buyers who are staying away from the record stores because of the rising prices of regular LP albums. The "mini" albums will contain new, previously unreleased material, and New Musik is one of the first new groups to be introduced on an EP. Extended play albums are not new, by the way, and were once a standard size in the U.S. in the early fifties. In Europe, EP's are still common.

But more important than the novel size is the introduction of one of the best groups to come out of England in a long time. Led lead singer, composer, keyboard player, producer Tony Molefield. New Musik plays a melodic, spacey brand of guitar-synth power pop.

The title tune, "Straight Lines," with its telegraphic, double-time, handclapping insistence, distantly echoing electric piano and pop-styled harmonies, is an oddly compelling mixture of new wave, artrock and British art-rock intrigue. "On Islands," a pastoral ballad of utopia with its hypnotic acoustic rhythm guitars, billowy synth lines and pulsating metronome beat, is a beautifully cosmic piece of music reminiscent of Traffic's cerebral melodies on the classic Mr. Fantasy album.

The crashing snares and throbbing bass on "Living By Numbers" make this track as danceable and hummable as it is thought-provoking, laced with eerie electronic keyboard lines and beautiful harmonies, and "Sad Films," a sweeping acoustic-electric rocker, reveals strong Beatles influences.

For the price, this could be the best record buy of the summer, especially for tastes which run to the unusual.

Women featured in Indian showing

ANADARKO — The Southern Plains Indian Museum and Craft Center will preview a special exhibition, "Conceptual Art: Four Native American Women Artists," from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday, July 10. The show is free and open to the public and will be on view through July 31.

Viewing hours are 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday and 1 p.m.-4:30 p.m. Sundays during the museum's summer season. The museum will be open July 4.

Four Indian artists, Lois Songciss Brill, Jaime Quick-to-See Smith, Kay WalkingStick and Emmi Whitehorse, are currently involved in the newest wave of highly abstract art in the history of Native American art, approaching their work from an intellectual and highly personal level of creative expression.

Refreshments will be served throughout the afternoon, compliments of the Oklahoma Indian Arts and Crafts Cooperative.

OTC to stimulate Kids' imagination

"Super Imagination," a program of creative dramatics for kids ages 8-12, will be held 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Saturday at Oklahoma Theater Center, 409 W. Sheridan.

Cost is $6, including all supplies and lunch. Students may pre-enroll by calling 391-6686, or they may come to OTC before 10 a.m. Saturday.

The special workshop will focus on the child's own experiences, which will be used as a basis for improvisation and development of the imagination.

Different forms of art will be explored as students growing, imagining and learning. The session will be conducted round-robin style so that each student will be able to work with each group leader.
