3 Deaths Attributed To Weather

By United Press International - The mercury declined to a blustering 101 in Hackett on Sunday, with a morning blast that swept through three towns within the area, which claimed no life.

Officials said Willard Herold, 30, of Columbia died in a local hospital Sunday. His body was transported to a hospital for an autopsy.

"The weather was so bad, we had to shut down," said a resident of a nearby town.

A 61-year-old man who had been working in a field was found dead in a cornfield near Columbia. He had been working in a cornfield near Columbia.

A 62-year-old man who had been working in a cornfield near Columbia also died, apparently of exposure.

The world is a dangerous place, and the citizens of Iraq know this all too well.

Paint The Auto Industry Red

By James V. Huling in Detroit

DETROIT (UPI) - A disastrous third-quarter sales loss for the auto industry was reported Monday, as the Big Three automakers suffered a collective sales loss of 30 percent.

The decline, which was attributed to a variety of factors, including a weak economy and increased competition from imports, was described as "disastrous" by industry analysts.

"The auto industry is in a deep recession," said one analyst. "We are seeing a decline in sales that is unprecedented."

Intelligence Agencies Violate Own Security

By Jack Anderson

A new report... intelligence officials are exposing themselves to espionage, as the FBI's own top security official has warned. The agency's own regulations require that all workers be screened for security clearances, but the director of the FBI has admitted that he doesn't know how many agents lack appropriate clearances.

The problem is not limited to the FBI. All intelligence agencies, including the CIA, are facing similar challenges. A recent government report found that 20% of CIA agents lack adequate security clearances, and that the agency is failing to properly monitor its personnel.

This is a serious problem, as it puts the nation's security at risk. The agencies are responsible for gathering and analyzing intelligence, which is critical for national defense and foreign policy. If they lack proper security measures, they risk compromising sensitive information.

Peron Legend Still Haunts Leaders

By Jerry Brown

The Peron legend is alive and well in Argentina, where the former president's image still looms large in political discourse. The Peronist movement, which he founded, continues to be a powerful force in the country's politics.

Peron himself rose to power in the 1940s, using a combination of populism and anti-imperialism to appeal to the working class. His policies included nationalization of key industries and land reform, which were popular among the poor.

But his legacy is complex. Some see him as a hero who fought for the rights of the working class, while others view him as a dictator who suppressed democratic institutions.

Americans Close Ranks Behind Old Glory

By Paul Harvey

In the face of global challenges, Americans are rallying behind their country's flag and institutions. The nation's strength is in its people, who are proud and determined to uphold their values.

This is evident in the way Americans have responded to the recent events in the Middle East. Despite the challenges, Americans have stood together to support their country and its interests.

Small Company A Consultant's Challenge

By Richard Smith

As the economy continues to improve, small businesses are facing new challenges. One of the biggest is finding qualified consultants to help them grow.

Many small companies rely on consultants to provide guidance and expertise in areas where they lack in-house expertise. But finding the right consultant can be difficult.

Babysitting Parents Are Tax Break

By Sylvia Porter

Many parents who work outside the home struggle to find reliable babysitters. The IRS has recently made it easier for these parents to claim a tax deduction for childcare expenses.

The new ruling allows parents to claim up to $3,000 in childcare expenses for each dependent child under age 13. This can provide a significant financial benefit for families who are trying to balance work and family responsibilities.

Tourist Bus Foils Hostage Rescue

By Art Buchwald

In Washington, tourists rode a bus that unknowingly carried a secret police officer assigned to the hostage rescue mission. The officer, who was a member of the elite Special Forces, was on standby to respond to any contingencies.

The incident highlights the importance of maintaining a vigilant presence in areas of potential danger. It also underscores the critical role that law enforcement agencies play in protecting the public.

Peron and his movement continue to influence Argentine politics, and his legacy is likely to remain a prominent topic for years to come.
Soviet Shuttle Expected

By John Sanders
WASHINGTON (AP) — Three more lift-off attempts from the Soviet Union were expected today, as officials announced that a new Russian spacecraft will be launched to the Moon within the next few days. The spacecraft, named "Soyuz," is scheduled to take off from the Baikonur Cosmodrome in Kazakhstan at 10 a.m. local time. This mission is expected to last for approximately one week, during which time the crew will conduct various scientific experiments and gather data to be transmitted back to Earth.

Television In Review

Rather Will Have Better View Next Time

By Fred Harvey
It was a rough week for television viewers last week, as a number of channels experienced technical difficulties and outages. However, with the rollout of new technologies, such as 5G and 8K, viewers can expect an improved viewing experience in the coming months. The latest innovation, a "smart" TV that can automatically adjust the picture quality based on the viewer's preferences, is set to hit the market in early 2024. This technology is expected to revolutionize the way we watch our favorite shows, offering a more personalized and immersive experience.
