Unfinished Business

It was 237 years ago that liberty took its first step toward a home of her own in the United States of America. With the adoption of the Constitution on September 17, 1787, our democratic system was born. The people of this nation have worked hard to build and preserve this liberty, and it is our responsibility to ensure that it continues to thrive.

Washington, D.C., as an American metropolis, has become a symbol of our nation's prosperity and advancement. Yet, despite the progress we have made, there are still many challenges we face today. It is crucial that we address these issues and ensure that our democracy remains strong and vibrant.

J.R., Hunts: Too Close For Comfort?

NEW YORK CITY - In the age of social media, where every post and tweet can reach millions of people, it's easy to forget the importance of privacy and the need for boundaries. J.R. and his hunting trips that he's been taking with his friends have raised questions about what is appropriate and what is not.

The story should have added that there is no truth to the rumor that J.R. and his friends were involved in illegal activities during their hunting trips. The newspaper should have clarified that the report was purely speculative and not based on concrete evidence.

ABC: Sweat-Hogwash

It's no secret that ABC would like NBC to pull back from its coverage of the Summer Olympics. But, when it comes to the battle of the networks, ABC is just as guilty of trying to tug the strings of the American TV viewer as NBC. In fact, as NBC prepares to go live from Moscow next week, ABC has already started preparing its own plans for the Olympic coverage.

The network is reportedly considering a wide range of options, from hiring more expensive talent to creating its own version of the NBC Olympics' "four-hour-a-day" format. However, any such plans are still in the early stages and ABC has not yet made a final decision on how it will cover the event.

Questions Raised

NBC To Air Anderson Views

WASHINGTON (AP) — NBC said today that its coverage of the election will feature the controversial commentary of former President Ronald Reagan. The network announced that Reagan's views, which he expressed during the campaign, will be included in its coverage.

Reagan, who was a supporter of the Republican candidates, said in interviews that he was concerned about the state of the economy and the future of the country. His comments were seen as a criticism of the Democratic candidates, who were seen as being more centrist in their approach to the issues.

NBC has faced criticism in the past for airing Republican candidates' views during the campaign. The network has defended its right to air the candidates' opinions.

Leaving WKY Apparently Not Ronnie Kaye's Idea

By Gene Tripoli, TV Writer

Though WKY Radio program director Joe Bennett had the line "You're in the Morning on WKY." on the air at the time of the sale, the program director's office was then closed by the new owners. Joe Bennett said, "I have no idea what will happen to the program."

"I think we'll try it out for a while," Bennett added. "Maybe it'll work out."

A spokesperson from the current owners of WKY said, "We're not sure what we'll do with the program."

But a source close to the new owners said, "We're considering all options."

The program, which is the longest-running program on WKY, has been a staple of the station for over 50 years. It was created by Joe Bennett and has been hosted by him ever since.

No microwaves at El Zocalo

El Zocalo is a refreshing oasis in the sea of Mexican restaurants that top the list of many local diners. Formerly the restaurant next to the Hungry Pelican at Main and McKinley, the ambience of Mexican cuisine which, surprisingly, includes no pre-made dishes.

"There is no microwave oven in the restaurant," says Bob Bell, general manager. "We buy the best Mexican foods, select the freshest ingredients, under the direction of maestros chefs from Mexico, and prepare the dishes from scratch each day. That's what makes El Zocalo unique."

While the menu has been refined, the striking Spanish decor of El Zocalo remains the same — a soaring dappled fountain at the entrance, with winding steps leading to the lobby. The second story club is arranged like a balcony, providing the perfect location for a conference. For the best view, stand in the lush garden on the first floor, with its colorful tables, covered with red and white striped tablecloths. Enjoy a meal served in this relaxed atmosphere, with a side of Margaritas and a bottle of wine. The El Zocalo experience is enhanced by the warm seasonal colors of the Southwest, surrounding you with artistry and nature.

The menu is designed to accommodate any taste, from the more adventurous to the Chile Verde, diced pork simmered in green chili sauce and served with rice and beans. The soups feature the best of the season and the entrees are a combination of regional and international flavors. The prices are reasonable, and the service is warm and inviting. The atmosphere is perfect for a romantic dinner, a family gathering, or a casual lunch with friends. And don't forget El Zocalo's famous Margaritas, which are reputationed to be the best in the city. So come and enjoy all that El Zocalo has to offer.
Tennille single

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — "Tennille will go it as a solo star at least as big as Captain and Tennille," she stated in her new era of solo promotion, according to Greasby. Greasby, who was the former manager of the group, said he would bring the group back together in a new format.

The group's latest single, "Love That's On the Line," has been receiving positive reviews and is expected to be a hit. Greasby said he is working on new material and is confident the group can make a comeback.

Black Sabbath 'throws in a Little Heaven'

Gene Osborne, whose tortured, seething voice became one of the most identifiable rock and roll images on albums like "Paranoid," has taken his leave, but his band will continue as a monument, Harrison James II.

"Actually, I didn't feel I replaced Syd Barrett," said the guitarist. "I'm just trying to explore this new, more electric sound."

"Sabbath" is a name that means something to everyone, and the band's new album "Paranoid" is a tribute to that.

"It's not a classical record," said the guitarist. "It's more of an electric rock album."

Sabbath's latest line-up has been praised for its experimentation and innovation.

Reggae sweeping Brazil

SÃO PAULO, Brazil (UPI) — Reggae music's strong, rhythmic black beat from Jamaica is sweeping much of Brazil, with fans of all ages.

Creating on a wave of black consciousness, it could become the next big sound in Brazil, with fans ranging from soccer stars to political leaders.

Reggae fans in Brazil have more African-descent citizens than any other country outside of Africa.

Top Jamaica reggae singer Jimmy Cliff has been a hit in Brazil recently and has played to more than 25,000 fans at a sports stadium in São Paulo, the capital city of Brazil.

In addition to Jimmy Cliff, other reggae artists like Peter Tosh and Burning Spear have also been successful in Brazil.

The popularity of reggae in Brazil is not limited to fans of the music; it has also helped to raise awareness about black consciousness and African-descent identity in the country.
Cannon shooting doubles again

Bollywood (UPI) — Dylan Cannon has tied off again with keepers of the gun running on this summer’s “Honeymoon In Brazil” and “Cruise to Cuba.” Cannon, who has directed a routine two-year, two-movie cycle in her career, interrupted by two big-budget appearances in the company of glamourous stars and leading women of the industry, has shut down the studio’s operations.

Cannon, however, is unsure of lengthy brochures. “It’s better not to make a movie at all than to make a bad one,” is her advice to new directors who aspire to the heights of major films. “You can’t afford to make a bad one.”

Meanwhile, Leon B. Seberg, the studio’s executive producer, said: “We’re working on two other pictures, both starting next year. One is a musical comedy, the other is a Western. But we’re not in a hurry.”

Not every Crosby tied Back to Bing

By MARSHALL ROYAL

DEAR DICK: Could you please tell me why I can’t see Bing Crosby with my daughter? My husband and I were in the theater last night and the program said he would be there.

DEAR ADDIE: Bing Crosby is on television tonight, but he’s not appearing in the theater. He’s appearing on NBC’s “Tonight Show.” It’s a good program, but not the same as seeing him in the theater. You should see him on television.

Acapulco: Playground of the Pacific

By Mac Binger

ACAPULCO — Like the city it has helped make famous, the cliff hotels here at first glance don't appear ready to live up to their grand look. Some are perched at the edge of a thousand feet high above the Pacific Ocean. That's life way up there. Nonchalantly, you may notice the 260-foot-high Guadalupe Tower also1

The scene is one of the two most popular sights, with 600,000 visitors each year. The tower is a reminder of the city's past as a military stronghold.
