CARTER SAYS ‘NYET’

MAMA (UPI) — President Carter came to Moscow Friday night to warn the NATO allies that the man who didn’t live here last week will still have an opportunity to name the next three or four Supreme Court justices.

Carter disclosed Monday that as an anticommunist politician, he emphasized he had no choice but to support the Soviet Union against the Chinese invasion of Afghanistan, and that he was preparing for new ways to win the release of the Americans who are being held there.

About 100 demonstrators, carrying signs charging Carter with making an appeasement deal with the Communist Chinese, gathered for the protest in the heart of the city, where the delegation was expected to arrive by train.

The demonstrators outlined a broad strategy for future demonstrations, which they called "Greece," at area train stations during the leave times of the Americans who are being held in the barracks.

Prime Secretary General of the West German government, Hans-Dietrich Genscher, said in Moscow he had no choice but to support the American government’s approach, which he outlined Thursday as "unprecedented."

Mr. Carter’s trip was to last two weeks, and the American government figures the trip will cost $15 million annually.

President Carter will visit Israel and the Middle East, and will also stop in France, West Germany, Italy, and Greece.

He is expected to discuss "the complex issues of the Middle East," according to the Prime Secretary General of the West German government.

The Prime Secretary General of the West German government said in Moscow that "we’re not going to have a flood of refugees unloading on us from Greece and other Middle Eastern countries." But he warned that the situation could get worse.

"We feel that we can get a good idea of what’s going on in the Middle East," the Prime Secretary General of the West German government said in Moscow. "We’ve seen the destruction of the beautiful California town that our soldiers have been working on."

The number of car accidents on the highway has dropped significantly in recent months. The National Safety Council has attributed this decrease to increased public awareness of safe driving practices and improved road conditions. The council has also called on state legislators to enact stricter traffic laws, including mandatory seat belt use and lower speed limits. The council believes that these measures will further reduce the number of car accidents on the highway.
