GOP GREET REAGAN

By Kyle Goldard

The black limousine glides up to the red carpet entrance of this convention site called "Indiana" at the Indiana Convention Center. His powerful passengers begin their walk of destiny under a canopy of lights forming an array you think you are seeing in a movie. Meanwhile, the Englander, the co-author of "Evil Forces Behind Black America" and the author of "The Alarmist," has already planned a three-day tour of the state. "Aengland" said they would take a private jet to meet with Republican candidates in the state and discuss how they can best support the party's candidates. "If I knew how to spell "reagan,"" he said, "I would be in school right now." He added that he supports "the party of Lincoln" and "the party of Limited Government." He said that he is "the only Republican in the country who is willing to take on the Democrats and the mainstream media." He also mentioned that he has "no fear of the future." He said that he is "the only Republican who is willing to take on the Democrats and the mainstream media."

Conventions Just Boring

Everybody knows that Ronald Reagan is not only the President of the United States but also the President of the American People. I mean, why else would he be on television every night? People love to see him, they love to hear his voice, they love to watch his face. He's the man of the people, the people's President.

Hollywood In Detroit

While in Detroit last week, I had the opportunity to take a tour of the GM headquarters. It was quite impressive, with its vast collection of cars and trucks. I also had the chance to meet with some of the top executives, who were kind enough to show me around.

Pryor Undergoes More Grafting

While in LA last week, I had the chance to interview Richard Pryor. He's quite the character, and I was shocked to learn that he's been under medical care recently. I wonder if he'll ever be able to return to his stand-up comedy career.

Yanks Clip White Sox

From the Associated Press

YANKEES WERE IN TROUBLE as they suffered an 11-4 loss to the White Sox at Comiskey Park Tuesday night, but a 10th inning rally tied the game. In the 11th, Boston won out on a bases-loaded walk to Carl Yastrzemski, who scored on a wild pitch by Chicago's Roger Gadsby.

Boston won, 2-1.

DUVAL HOMER

Boston's Dave Duval hit a two-run home run in the third inning, one of the few bright spots in the game. Duval had a total of four RBIs in the game, including a three-run home run in the sixth inning.

YANKEES SUFFER

The Yanks, who had won their previous game, struggled throughout the evening. They had only four hits in the game, including a triple by Rick Cerone in the first inning and a solo home run by Dave Winfield in the eighth.

Umpires: Jerry Crawford, John Hirschbeck, Gary Nettles.

White Sox' Morrison Settles For Doubles

The Associated Press

Jim Morrison, a left-handed pitcher for the Chicago White Sox, was supposed to pitch against the Boston Red Sox on Tuesday night. However, the game was called off due to a rain delay.

Morrison, who was scheduled to start, had been pitching well recently. He has a record of 4-2 with a 3.20 ERA this season.

Morrison had been expected to start against the Red Sox in Boston on Tuesday night. However, the game was called off due to a rain delay.

Due to the weather, Morrison will now have to pitch against the Red Sox on Wednesday night.
