Nigh Asks For Water Cut Down

OKLAHOMA CITY (UPI) — Gov. George Nigh proclaimed a state of emergency Tuesday to cope with the state's water shortage.

"We called on citizens and community leaders to immediately cut down on water usage," he said. "This is the time, in the middle of the summer season, when our state's water resources are at their lowest levels." Nigh said the state is facing its worst drought in 60 years.

The Oklahoma Contingency Board at Nigh's request allocated $80 million to develop a public information campaign and technical assistance program.

The Department of Agriculture and Forestry will develop a public information campaign through the state's television, radio, and print media. The campaign will be coordinated by Dr. J.W. Walsworth, a sociologist at the University of Oklahoma.

The department was designated by the Department of Agriculture and Forestry as the "Emergency Water Conservation Agency," effective immediately.

Judges Stop Registration

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A three-judge federal panel Friday stopped the Philadelphia registration law in its tracks, because it discriminates against men by imposing a literacy test.

In a landmark decision, the panel ruled that the law is unconstitutional and military conscription violates guarantees of due process and the Declaration of Independence in the U.S. Constitution.

The case was filed in 1971 during the Vietnam war as an attack on the federal government's war on poverty and the draft. The case was brought by the American Civil Liberties Union, which argued that the law violated the First Amendment by restricting voting rights on the basis of literacy.

The panel said the law would allow the state to go back to the old law of 1864, which had been the law until 1971.

The panel also said the state's law was unconstitutional because it violated the right to vote under the First Amendment.
