Inmates Take Two Hostages

BORIS, Idaho (UPI) -- Inmates took two hostages in a medium securitynickel at 12:01 p.m. The inmates, armed with a large pistol and a shotgun, forced the hostage-takers to surrender.

The inmates were seen struggling with the hostage-takers over a system that allows inmates to make phone calls. The hostages were released unharmed.

Inmates lured the hostages into the cell block by promising them a meal, according to sources. The hostages were later able to escape through a window and contact authorities.

The inmates are believed to be part of a larger group seeking to escape. The prison is currently on lockdown.

Inmates have been protesting the lack of access to televisions and other entertainment facilities. The prison, which holds about 700 inmates, has been under scrutiny for its treatment of prisoners.

The situation remains tense as authorities work to resolve the situation.

WASHINGTON (UPI) -- The Democratic and Republican leaders of the Senate agreed Wednesday to begin authorizing the impeachment of Attorney General William Barr.

The move followed a week of negotiations in which both parties were seeking to find common ground on the issue. The impeachment inquiry was initiated after several House committees failed to secure testimony from Barr.

The Senate measures aim to force Barr to testify before Congress and could potentially lead to his removal from office.

The Senate leadership has yet to announce a specific date for the proceedings, but Barr has said he would not appear voluntarily.

Blowing its Top Again

Mount St. Helens, after six weeks of relative quiet, unleashed yet another series of eruptions late Tuesday. The plume of steam and ash rose some 40,000 feet in the air.

The eruption was the latest in a series of events since the volcano's March 21 explosion. The volcano, located in Washington State, has been undergoing a series of eruptions and earthquakes in recent weeks.

The latest eruption occurred at approximately 5:00 p.m. local time. Authorities have advised residents in the surrounding area to stay indoors and avoid the plume.

The U.S. Geological Survey continues to monitor the volcano and will provide updates as necessary.

Too Little, Too Late

Washington (UPI) - The nation's second largest winter storm in 20 years, the Great Blizzard of 1971, added yet another dark chapter to the nation's weather history. The storm, which began on January 13, claimed the lives of 21 people, including 7 in the Midwest, 7 in the South, and 7 in the Northeast. The storm also caused $1.5 billion in damage, making it one of the most expensive storms in U.S. history. The storm was caused by a combination of cold air from Canada, a strong low pressure system, and a jet stream that brought temperatures as low as -40°F. The storm was so severe that it forced the cancellation of the Super Bowl, which was scheduled to be played in Miami at the time. The storm also caused widespread power outages, flooding, and transportation disruptions, making it a defining moment in U.S. weather history.

By Dan Koon

The 89ers tag-plagued Bears were up 6-0 before they could open their new stadium last year. Now they are again in the grips of a tag/punishment haze. It is not a good sign for the 89ers as they try to avoid their third loss of the season.

Bob Niekro

By Bill Barlow

Bob Niekro has had two bad times in his pitching career. He lost 11 games at the end of the 1972 season for the Atlanta Braves and also in '78 for the Chicago White Sox. This summer, the Atlanta right-hander has been flinging the ball with a passion that has led to a career-high 16 losses and a 6-11 record, his worst since 1974. Now, he is 8-11 for the season. He was 5-10 in 1977 and 6-11 in 1978.
