Carter May Release Delegates?

NEW YORK (AP) - President Jimmy Carter's campaign manager said Wednesday that the White House has decided to release all 50 delegates from the presidential campaign. The decision was made after a meeting between the president and the campaign manager, David Satcher, and comes in response to pressure from the Democratic National Committee.

The move follows similar actions taken by other candidates, including Ronald Reagan and Hubert Humphrey. However, the White House has been cautious in releasing delegates,怕 they might be tempted to vote for another candidate in the primaries.

Soviets End Kabul Offensive

The Soviet military has ended its offensive against the Taliban in Kabul, the capital of Afghanistan. The operation was launched last month in an effort to oust the Taliban from power.

The operation was code-named "Operation Freedom," and was led by General Vladimir Zhirinovsky. The operation was supported by the United States and other NATO allies.

South Korea Arrests 17,000

SEOUL, South Korea - South Korea has arrested 17,000 North Korean refugees in recent weeks. The refugees were found to be violating immigration laws by entering the country illegally.

The arrests were made after a series of raids by South Korean authorities. The refugees were said to be living in the country illegally, and were deported back to North Korea.

Iran Rejoices Over Release

Tehran, Iran - Iranians were jubilant over the release of 50 US diplomats who were detained in the country for months. The diplomats had been held as hostages since the Iranian Revolution.

The release was made after negotiations between the US and Iran. The US promised to release the hostages in exchange for the release of several Iranian prisoners.

Civil liberties groups have condemned the hostage-taking as a violation of human rights. They have called for the immediate release of all political prisoners in Iran.

Guard To Check Pollution

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) has announced a new plan to check pollution levels across the country. The plan will involve the use of new technology to monitor pollution levels and ensure that they are within acceptable limits.

The plan was announced by EPA Administrator William Reilly. He said the new technology will allow the agency to be more effective in its pollution control efforts.

Iranians Throw Bottles, Eggs

NEW YORK (AP) - Iranian protesters threw bottles and eggs at New York's Grand Central Terminal on Wednesday night. The protesters were demonstrating against the US government's decision to release 50 delegates from the presidential campaign.

The protesters gathered in the terminal's main lobby, where they hurled bottles and eggs at the glass walls and chandeliers. The terminal was temporarily closed due to the chaos.

Volcano's Eruption Is Brief

WASHINGTON, D.C. - The eruption of the Kilauea volcano in Hawaii on Wednesday night was brief and did not appear to cause any damage. The volcano erupted for approximately 30 minutes, spewing lava and ash into the air.

The eruption was the first in more than 20 years. The last eruption, which lasted for several days, occurred in 1983. The Kilauea is one of the world's largest active volcanoes.

Bad Advice, Rev. Graham

Dear Editor,

As a Christian and a supporter of Rev. Graham, I am greatly concerned about the advice he is giving. His recent articles have been filled with misinformation and misinterpretations of the Bible. For example, in his latest column, he claimed that the world is coming to an end because of the increase in natural disasters. However, this is not supported by any scriptural evidence. The Bible says that God will judge the world, but it does not predict the end of the world as we know it.

I urge you to reconsider your support for Rev. Graham. His words are not only misleading but also damaging to those who trust in him. We must stand against his false teachings and promote a faith based on the truth of the Bible.

Sincerely,

[Your Name]

Andy Rooney

August Last Month Of The Year

In the last month of the year, we must take stock of our lives and reflect on the things that have gone well and those that have gone wrong. We must also think about the things we want to change and the goals we want to achieve.

It's not too late to make changes. We can still make a difference in the world. We can still help those who are less fortunate. We can still work towards a better future for ourselves and for others.

Let's not waste the last month of the year. Let's use it to do something good. Let's use it to make a difference. Let's use it to live a better life.

Richard Reeves

Carter, Brown: The Odd Couple

Los Angeles - Four years ago, Jimmy Carter and Walter Mondale became the first black and white presidential ticket. It was a strange combination, to say the least. But it worked. They won the presidency.

Now, here we are again. Jimmy Carter is back in the race, this time with Lloyd Bentsen. Lloyd Bentsen is a white man, middle-aged, and he's been in the Senate for a long time.

It's an odd couple, to be sure. But it's a team that could work. Lloyd Bentsen is a good candidate. He has a proven record in the Senate. He knows how to get things done.

And Carter is still a great candidate. He knows how to campaign. He knows how to talk to the people. He knows how to listen.

They could make a great team. They could win.

VideoTapes Reveal Congressional Greediness

In recent months, several videotapes have been released that reveal the greediness of Congress. These tapes have shown members of Congress accepting bribes, stealing taxpayer money, and engaging in other forms of corruption.

The tapes have been shocking. They have shown that Congress is not as trustworthy as we thought. They have shown that Congress is not as interested in the people as we thought.

We must do something to fix this. We must hold Congress accountable. We must demand that they change their ways.

What's On Reagan's Mind?

President Reagan has been silent on many important issues. He has not spoken out on the Iran-Contra affair, the recession, or the war in the Middle East.

We need to know what he thinks. We need to know what he plans to do. We need to have a leader who will stand up for the people.

I urge you to write to President Reagan and ask him to speak out on these important issues. I urge you to demand that he take action.

Sincerely,

Rally Leads To 38-Month Dow High

NEW YORK CITY — The Dow Jones industrial average climbed in a shopping spree yesterday, with gains in most of the 30 stocks included in the composite index. The index rose 19.35 points to 692.40.

The gains were led by stocks in the auto industry, which rose on reports of increased production and sales. General Motors, Ford, and Chrysler all posted gains.

Chrysler Pins Hopes On New K-Car

DETROIT (AP) — Chrysler, which has been losing ground to Ford in the auto market, announced plans to introduce a new K-car, which it hopes will help it regain its position.

The new K-car is expected to be a compact car designed to appeal to young drivers. It will be offered in both sedan and hatchback versions.

Hydrogen World Coming?

NEW YORK CITY — A hydrogen world, in which vehicles run on hydrogen fuel rather than gasoline, is just around the corner, according to experts in the field.

The first hydrogen-powered vehicles are expected to be on the road within the next few years. Proponents of hydrogen as a fuel say it is cleaner and more efficient than gasoline.

Truman Capote
The True Genius Stands Out Always

"There are those of us who live, and those of us who go," wrote Truman Capote in an essay titled "Pre-Raphaelite Monochrome," a work he considered his most important. "We are all marked by the world we live in."

Long a proponent of journalism and the mixing of art and reportage, Capote is known for his ability to weave together fact and fiction, as in the case of his work "In Cold Blood." A 1953 novel, it tells the true story of a Kansas family murder and is considered by many to be one of the greatest works of American literature.

"I think that the greatest truth is always terrifying."

"The world is speaking to me through my eyes."

"I'm a little bit of a misfit, but that's what makes me who I am."
