Monster Storm Nears Texas

BROWNSVILLE, Texas (UPI) - Hurricane Allen, virtually filling the Gulf of Mexico with the most powerful wind wall the country has ever seen, flapped the Texas south coast with the outer edges of its 55 mph winds just before dawn yesterday.

Under the fury of the hurricane, the water level shot up 12 ft. in the San Juan Coquina community west of Brownsville, creating fears of a great flood. The water rose 10 ft. in the center of town when the hurricane came ashore.

Brownsville, Texas, National Weather Service, at 8 p.m. (CST) the storm center was located near latitude 26.50 north, longitude 94.50 west. The eye of the hurricane was virtually at the center of the coast just south of Brownsville. Winds were right to left.

Allen, which was of hurricane force at 1 p.m. and 2 p.m., was increasing in strength and was expected to become a major hurricane tonight. It was forecast to move slowly north today and move across the coast tonight.

The high winds caused considerable damage in the town. Lumber was thrown through the air, tearing down numerous trees.

On The Edge

By Nancy Fischer

If Hurricane Allen picks the right fork of the road, it could create as much damage in Texas as in Louisiana. And if it doesn't choose the right fork, it could not create as much damage as it did in Louisiana.

According to Claude Dudas, associate professor of meteorology at the University of Texas, the chances that Hurricane Allen will create significant damage in Texas are high.

Dudas said increased cloudiness and upper-level pressure differences in the area, both of which could have been worse, gave the hurricane the right track.

"The intensity of the storm is not as great as it was in Louisiana," he said. "But it's still a very dangerous storm."

Viking Probe Out Of Gas

PALEOZO, OIL: (AP) — Viking has run out of gas, ending its two-year search for an underground reservoir that could provide enough energy to power its Deep Sea Oilfield.

Gary E. Jones, chief geologist for the drilling company, said Tuesday that the Viking's original well had it's fuel cut off after hitting a gas field.

"It's been a tough week," Jones said, "but we're not giving up. We're going to keep exploring for gas and see if we can find a new field." The company is planning to drill for gas in the neighboring area, which Jones said "could be just the ticket for the future." The search will continue as long as there is sunlight left to power the drilling equipment.

Editorial
National Disgrace

Norman Davis had done a lot of work. He is reaping the bitter end of doing it. As one of many thousands of Americans at the polls today, Davis gazed in disbelief as the votes were tallied. The result was a national disgrace.

The polls were open and the votes were counted. But the truth was hidden behind the phony smiles of the candidates. The voters were deceived. The candidates were corrupt. The system was rigged.

For years, leaders have talked about reform. They have promised change. But nothing has been accomplished. The corruption continues. The system remains the same.

We must demand change. We must demand accountability. We must demand honesty. The people deserve better. The voters deserve better. The nation deserves better.

Andy Rooney
Progress Can Be A Disease

Progress is a funny thing. It's a funny thing that not all of us can agree on what it is. Some people think that progress is moving forward. Others think that progress is standing still.

There are some things that I think we can all agree on. For example, I think that progress is important. I think that progress is necessary. I think that progress is essential.

But there are some things that I think we cannot agree on. For example, I think that progress is not always good. I think that progress can be a disease.

Bob Greene
Anderson And The Party Of Success

The Democratic Party is the party of success. It is the party that has brought us prosperity. It is the party that has brought us prosperity. It is the party that has brought us prosperity.

But the Democratic Party has also brought us corruption. It has brought us fraud. It has brought us waste. It has brought us all kinds of things.

We must demand accountability from the Democratic Party. We must demand honesty from the Democratic Party. We must demand change from the Democratic Party.

U.S. Officials Ignore Jailing Of Own Citizens

WASHINGTON — The U.S. government has ignored the jailing of its own citizens for months on end. The officials in charge have refused to take any action.

The situation is unacceptable. The government must take immediate action. The citizens must be released. The government must be held accountable.

Thoughts

A majority was in favor of the decision made by the government. The majority felt that the decision was fair. The majority felt that the decision was just.

But there were some who felt differently. They felt that the decision was unjust. They felt that the decision was unfair. They felt that the decision was unwarranted.

The government must take into account the feelings of all citizens. The government must be transparent. The government must be accountable.

The government must not ignore the jailing of its own citizens. The government must not ignore the jailing of its own citizens. The government must not ignore the jailing of its own citizens.

‘Moral Majority’ Is Screaming For Power

In Oklahoma, the ‘Moral Majority’ is screaming for power. They are demanding that their views be heard. They are demanding that their views be respected.

But the Oklahoma government is not listening. The government is not responding. The government is not acting.

We must demand action from the Oklahoma government. We must demand justice from the Oklahoma government. We must demand change from the Oklahoma government.

State Laws A Stone Wall Against Anderson

By Eugene McCarthy

State laws are a stone wall against Anderson. They are standing in the way of his progress. They are standing in the way of his success.

Anderson has the support of the people. Anderson has the support of the voters. Anderson has the support of the nation.

But the state laws are standing in the way. The state laws are preventing Anderson from moving forward. The state laws are preventing Anderson from achieving his goals.

We must demand change from the state laws. We must demand justice from the state laws. We must demand fairness from the state laws.

Tentative School Contracts Reached

By Raymone Parmer

Oklahoma City — A tentative agreement was reached last week on the economic terms of the city’s four school districts. Full ratification is expected by the end of the month. The agreement includes a 4% raise for teachers and other professionals, a $2,500 bonus for each year of service, and an increase in the school board’s budget to cover the cost of the raises.

Payroll increases may be as high as 12% for the school year ending Aug. 31, according to the tentative agreement. The largest increases are expected for the school year ending Aug. 31, and the smallest increases are expected for the school year ending Aug. 30.

The raises for teachers and other professionals will be phased in over two years, with 2% increases each year. The school board is expected to vote on the tentative agreement next week.

The school board has faced criticism for its handling of the contract negotiations, with some members arguing that the raises are too high and others arguing that the raises are not enough.
