CARTER BEGINS ATTACK ON REAGAN

By Lyman Gwynn

The New York Times

President Jimmy Carter yesterday accused his Republican predecessor, President Ronald Reagan, of "rushing into war," and called on him to halt the buildup of US forces in the Persian Gulf.

Carter also accused Reagan of "denying the rights of the people of Iran" and of "supporting dictators who are the agents of the United Nations Security Council." He said Reagan had "deliberately" provoked a crisis in the Middle East.

Carter further charged that Reagan was responsible for the "growing gap between the haves and have-nots" in the world economy.

"Reagan has failed to understand the importance of reducing military spending and increasing investment in education and training," Carter said. "He has failed to understand the importance of reducing military spending and increasing investment in education and training."

J.R. Teaches Us A Lesson

You look at James Robert Richard and it's impossible to imagine him as a picture-perfect, all-American jock. After all, the 34-year-old 6-foot-3, 220-pounder has never once hit over .200 in a full major league season. He's never been an All-Star. He's never been in the World Series. He's never even been on the cover of Sports Illustrated. In fact, he's never had anything to do with baseball at all. But after the Giants won the World Series last year, Richard got a job as a scout for the New York Yankees. And now he's the hitting coach for the Yankees. And he's teaching the team how to hit. And they're getting better. And they're going to win the World Series again. And J.R. is the reason. And he's the best hitting coach in the majors. And he's making the Yankees the best team in baseball. And he's doing it all with a smile. And he's the hero. And he's the man.

Tull Recording: Purple Blasted
By Kurt Loder
Rolling Stone
Jethro Tull leader Ian Anderson, reportedly embarrassed at the band's inability to sell out in recent years, turned to new talent. Drummer Barrie Barlow, keyboardists John Evan and David Pegg, and guitarist Martin Barre, former member of King Crimson, were brought aboard for the recording album called "Alert!" due out in September. The LP was originally conceived as a concept mini-series project, but he changed his mind when he decided to make it a Tull record.
