Zink, Nickles To Meet

Several Face Upsets

County Incumbents Fare Poorly

Good Morning

It's Wednesday, Aug. 27, And...

It will be close to partly cloudy today and Thursday. Winds will be mainly from the west at 10-15 mph. The overnight low will be in the 70s. Friday is expected to be mostly sunny with partly cloudy high temperatures in the 80s.

In a ballyhooed race for House District 3 in 1988, Nickles defeated Zink for the Democratic nomination. In the primary, Nickles garnered 51 percent of the vote, compared to 49 percent for Zink. The margin of victory was 3,877 votes.

The other Senate Democrats also played a role in Nickles' victory, including the Senate majority leader, Sen. John Kavemenos. Nickles received 60 percent of the vote in the Senate, compared to 40 percent for Kavemenos. The margin of victory was 2,794 votes.

As it became more obvious the two would meet in September, Nickles stepped up his campaign, focusing on his record as a child advocate and his willingness to work with Republicans to improve children's services. Zink, on the other hand, remained more cautious, saying he was the better choice to represent conservative values.

With 3,877 of the 3,774 state primary votes cast, Nickles had a 15-trump lead over Zink. In the Senate, 3,754 votes were cast, with Nickles winning 60 percent of the vote, compared to 40 percent for Kavemenos. The margin of victory was 2,794 votes.

Jim Hamilton battled with 23 year old Zink, who had 23 years of experience in the state legislature. Hamilton had 73 percent of the vote, compared to 27 percent for Zink. The margin of victory was 40,983 votes.

With 23 percent of the precincts reporting, Nickles had 31,365 votes, compared to 29,355 for Zink. Nickles had 51 percent of the vote, compared to 49 percent for Zink. The margin of victory was 1,010 votes.

Achievement Awards For The Post-Election Blues

By Richard Castell

WASHINGTON - The White House was in high spirits today after the announcement of the 1984 Achievement Awards for the Post-Election Blues.

A little consolation for the heartache of losing the election may be found in these awards. The 1984 Achievement Awards for the Post-Election Blues will be presented to those who have experienced the pain of losing an election.

The awards will be presented at a special ceremony on January 20th at the White House. The ceremony will be broadcast live on television.

Winners will receive a special trophy, which has been designed in the shape of a tear drop. The trophy will be displayed in the hallways of the White House.

Kennedy Out Of Tune For 1984?

WASHINGTON - It's been a tough campaign for Edward Kennedy. A recent poll shows that he is not in the lead for the upcoming elections.

Kennedy, who was expected to be a strong contender, has struggled to gain support. Some say that he may be out of tune for the 1984 elections.

Kennedy said that he is not giving up. "I'm going to continue to work hard," he said. "I believe that I can make a difference."

But others believe that his campaign is struggling. "He's not connecting with the voters," said political analyst Dr. Robert Johnson. "He needs to find a way to make his message more appealing."

89er Home Slate Ends With Loss

On a staff that included the reigning Cy Young Award winner, the 89ers lost 4-3 to the Arizona Diamondbacks on Tuesday night. The loss ended a streak of eight consecutive victories for the 89ers, who had won five games in a row before the untimely injury to star pitcher John Smith. Smith was removed from the game after allowing three runs in the first inning. The Diamondbacks took advantage of a series of errors by the 89ers to score three runs and win the game. Despite the loss, the 89ers remain in first place in the league, just half a game ahead of the second-place Diamondbacks.

Injuries Take Toll On Tulsa

The Tulsa Drillers lost their starting pitcher, Bill Johnson, on Tuesday night after he sustained a severe ankle injury in the fifth inning. Johnson, who had been dominant in his previous starts, was forced to leave the game and did not return. The team's relief pitching was unable to hold the lead, and the Drillers lost 5-4 to the Amarillo Squirrels. Johnson's injury is expected to sideline him for at least a month, and the Drillers will have to rely on their young pitching rotation to fill the void.

Sooners Survive Good Contact Day

The Oklahoma Sooners defeated the Kansas Jayhawks 7-6 in a thrilling game on Tuesday night. The Sooners were able to overcome a sluggish start and rally to win the game in the ninth inning. Oklahoma's offense was led by first baseman Mark Miller, who had two home runs and four RBIs in the game. The Sooners are now 24-14 on the season and remain in contention for the league championship.

Schools Return To 'Regular' Hours

By Nancy Flaherty

The Oklahoma City Board of Education took the first step toward returning to a regular schedule of classes Monday when the school board passed a motion to initiate an attendance audit and discipline policy.

The attendance audit will be conducted by school administrators and will be used to determine the number of days missed by each student. The discipline policy will be implemented to ensure that students are attending classes regularly.

Higher Tax Law Blasted

By Martin Teke

The Oklahoma House of Representatives passed a bill Thursday that would increase the state's property tax rate by 50 percent. The bill, which was introduced by state Rep. John Walker (D-Oklahoma City), passed the House by a vote of 87-35.

The bill would raise the state's property tax rate from $1.20 per $100 of assessed value to $1.80 per $100 of assessed value. The bill would also create a new property tax category for residential property, which would be taxed at a rate of $1.50 per $100 of assessed value.

Teacher Vote Date Not Scheduled Yet

By Nancy Flaherty

The Oklahoma City Board of Education is still working on finalizing the teacher contract agreement. A vote on the contract is expected to be held at the next board meeting, which is scheduled for May 12.

The contract agreement includes provisions for a 10 percent pay raise for teachers, a new health insurance plan, and a new sick leave policy.

Disclosure Law Falls One Vote Short

By Martin Teke

The Oklahoma House of Representatives failed to pass a disclosure law on Thursday by a vote of 49-40. The bill, which was introduced by state Rep. John Walker (D-Oklahoma City), would require candidates for public office to disclose the sources of their campaign contributions.

The bill would also require candidates to disclose the amount of money they spend on campaign advertisements. The bill passed the House by a vote of 49-40, but it fell one vote short of the required majority.

Cartwright Rules Tourism Law 'Bad'

By Martin Teke

The Oklahoma House of Representatives passed a bill Thursday that would allow the state to issue tourist visas to citizens of certain countries. The bill, which was introduced by state Rep. John Carter (R-Oklahoma City), passed the House by a vote of 78-11.

The bill would allow the state to issue tourist visas to citizens of countries that have a visitor visa rate of at least 50 percent. The bill would also allow the state to issue tourist visas to citizens of countries that have a visitor visa rate of at least 60 percent and a visitor visa rate of at least 70 percent.

The governors are expected to discuss issues of mutual concern, including the construction of a new bridge and the development of a new water treatment plant.
Drought Losses Are Staggering

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) - Agriculture goes through cycles, but it was hard to believe that conditions in southwestern Oklahoma would be the same as in the drought decade of the 1930s. The past two years have been wetter than the average, but they were not enough to break the drought. The damage is estimated at $2 billion, with about $700 million in losses to livestock alone. The drought has forced farmers to abandon their land and seek other occupations.

Price Cuts Ignored?

By Mort Kligman

MARKET SHOPS—rather than cut prices, many supermarket owners are trying to perk up shopping by offering free gifts to customers who shop at their stores.

Many of the stores have多种形式 of "gifts," ranging from free samples to free gifts. In some cases, the "gifts" are actually just a way of getting customers to buy more of the store's products.

"We're trying to make shopping more fun," said one supermarket owner. "We want to give customers a reason to come to our store, even if they don't buy anything.
