CARTER HITS KKK CHARGE

"Independence, Mo. (UPI) -- President Carter accused Ronald Reagan Tuesday of dividing the country by trying to link him to the Ku Klux Klan, and called Reagan's ostrich policy a misstatement of the nation's security and world safety.

"Reagan's efforts to keep the November election alive, especially Florida, have the ring of a politician who does not want to be in the spotlight, Frist said."

President Carter, answering Frist's criticism of Reagan and calling him by his first name for the first time in his campaign, insisted that the threat against the United States stems from abroad and not from a failed system of weapons and to not launching a nuclear arms race against the Soviet Union."

"I am the first one who has been first to condemn the arms competition," Carter said. "I have announced that if I am elected, I will withdraw the massive nuclear arms race against the Soviet Union. That is not the time for a political advantage to try to divide the Congress into two groups." Carter said.

"I think he is non-social, I think I was non-social, and you could not see how it could be harmful, but the President, I feel, is not non-social."

Education

Home Education Movement Snowballing

Charles E. Mason, executive director of the National Home Education Association, said last week that the home education movement is snowballing. He said that more and more parents are choosing to educate their children at home, and that this trend is likely to continue.

The movement has been gaining momentum in recent years, with a growing number of families choosing to educate their children at home. The reasons for this trend vary, but many parents cite the desire to provide a more personalized education, more freedom in the educational process, and a desire to maintain control over their children's education.

The National Home Education Association represents thousands of families who educate their children at home. The organization provides resources and support to families who choose this educational path.

The movement has faced some challenges, including resistance from some school systems and parents who believe in traditional schooling. However, the movement continues to grow, with more families choosing to educate their children at home.

Now There's Too Much Gas

In Today's America, a new generation of women is emerging, one that is not afraid to speak up and demand change. Gas prices are at an all-time high, and women are fed up. "It's time to say enough," says Mary, a young activist. "We need to take action and demand a better future for ourselves and our children."

One Way To End Arguments

DEAR HELLO: I'm really frustrated with my husband. He's always pointing out my mistakes and criticizing me. It's really getting me down. What can I do?

DEAR HELLO: It's not as if I'm perfect. We all make mistakes. But I think it's important to be honest with each other and to work together to find solutions. Maybe you could try to focus on the positive aspects of your relationship instead of dwelling on the negative.

Hints From Heloise

DEAR HELLO: I'm really struggling with my weight. I've tried everything but nothing seems to work. Any tips?

DEAR HELLO: It's important to remember that losing weight is not a quick fix. It's a lifestyle change that requires dedication and discipline. Try to focus on making small changes, like eating healthier and exercising more. And don't be too hard on yourself if you slip up. Just get back on track!

'Crazy American Elections'

Stanley McNeil

The November elections are being called "Crazy American Elections" by many analysts. The high level of voter turnout and the close races in several key states have left many scratching their heads. The presence of social media and the 24-hour news cycle has added to the chaos, with information spreading rapidly and often inaccurately.

Farmer, Cowens End Feud

By United Press International

Ed Farmer and Al Cowens, two Chicago White Sox pitchers who had been bickering for the last three seasons, ended their feud early this week by shaking hands and exchanging best wishes. Farmer said he would have no more to do with the Chicago organization and would settle for $90,000 more than his $140,000 contract. Cowens, who also wanted a new contract, was offered $200,000 and reportedly accepted.

Charles C. Gilbert, the Chicago team's owner, said: "I feel it's just as well to get the controversy over with. Ed did a lot of good for us this year. He's a good fellow who has given his all."

The two players have been involved in a long-standing feud over salaries and contract negotiations. Farmer, who was upset over a pay cut, has been traded to the Baltimore Orioles and Cowens has been dealt to the New York Yankees.

'The Kid' Ends Drought, Beats Chicago, 11-2

By United Press International

The Detroit Tigers have ended their long losing streak against the Chicago White Sox, winning 11-2 at Comiskey Park. The Tigers had lost their last 21 games against the Sox and had lost their last 35 games in Chicago. This victory was a welcome relief for the Tigers' fans, who had been left disappointed in recent months.

Detroit's starting pitcher was a real workhorse, throwing 12 innings before being removed with a 7-2 lead. He allowed only two runs and three hits, striking out 12 batters.

Beniquez' Refusal Draws Suspension

The St. Louis Cardinals' pitcher, Jack Beniquez, was suspended for two games after refusing to pitch in a game against the Cincinnati Reds. Beniquez had been involved in a contract dispute and had refused to pitch after the Cardinals' manager told him to do so.

The team's owner, Sam Breadner, said: "We have reached a point where we can no longer tolerate such behavior. Beniquez must learn to follow orders and respect our authority."

Smoker Puzzle Solved By Merit Taste.

Research establishes low tar MERIT as proven taste alternative to high tar smoking.

There is a difference between other low tar cigarettes and MERIT - a proven difference.
Tests with thousands of smokers provide solid evidence that MERIT delivers the flavor of high tar brands, and continues to satisfy long term.

Smoker Quest Ends Blind Taste Tests: In tests where brand identity was concealed, a significant majority of smokers rated the taste of low tar MERIT as good as - or better than - leading high tar brands. Even cigarettes having twice the tar!

Smoker Preference: Among the 95% of smokers stating a preference, the MERIT low tar/good taste combination was favored 3 to 1 over high tar leaders when tar levels were revealed!

Long-Term Satisfaction: In the latest survey of former high tar smokers who have switched to MERIT, 9 out of 10 reported they continue to enjoy smoking, are glad they switched, and recommend MERIT is the best-tasting low tar they've ever tried! MERIT is the proven alternative to high tar smoking. And you can taste it.

Stock Market Scores Sharp Gain

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market, which had lost 1.7 percent in the previous session, rose sharply yesterday, with the Dow Jones average up 68.59 points to close at 972.34. The S&P 500 rose 4.14 points to 286.30.

Economic data showed that the U.S. economy grew at a 1.5 percent annual rate in the second quarter, the Commerce Department said Thursday. This was down from a 3.4 percent rate in the first quarter. The Federal Reserve Board said that the nation's industrial production fell in August, the first decline since December. Industrial production dropped 0.2 percent in August after increasing 0.3 percent in July.
