ANDY, REAGAN CLASH

BOSTON (UPI) - Republican Ronald Reagan and independent John Anderson are in the first debate of the 1980 presidential campaign Sunday night, attacking each other as President Carter - the man they want to unseat.

Reagan and Anderson will face each other in a nationally televised debate on issues ranging from military spending, taxes, inflation, abortion, energy, and the role of religion in politics in the hour-long debate being held in CBS, NBC and public broadcasting stations to an audience estimated at 35 million people.

The debate will be held in the first of five town hall meetings arranged by the National League of Cities. Officials of the League have given the candidates a chance to show their personal views on the issues they have chosen to debate.

One of the issues is the question of the political role of religion in politics.

Reagan's campaign has been accused of attacking religion in politics, and the question of the role of religion in politics has been a constant theme of the campaign.

Anderson's campaign has been accused of attacking Reagan's views on religion in politics, and the question of the role of religion in politics has been a constant theme of the campaign.

Brain Tissue Growth Rate Unsteady?

By LPS

The brain of a human being grows throughout life, but the rate at which it grows is not constant. In infancy, the rate is high, but it slows down as the child grows. In adulthood, the rate is very low, but it increases again in old age. This increase in growth rate is due to the formation of new brain cells, which is called neurogenesis. In this article, we will explore the factors that affect brain growth and how it changes throughout life.
